Unit 1: Patience and Tolerance of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH)

Unit 1: Patience and Tolerance of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). The lesson teaches patience, tolerance and mercy through the events at Ta'if, the old woman of Makkah, the Treaty of Hudaybiyah and the Conquest of Makkah.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. What happened to Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) in Ta'if, and how did he respond?

When Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) went to Ta'if to invite the people to Islam, they threw stones at him and badly hurt him. He did not curse them; instead, he prayed that their future generations would turn to Islam. His patience was later rewarded when many people of Ta'if accepted Islam.

2. How did Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) treat the old woman who used to throw garbage on him?

An old woman in Makkah used to throw garbage on him whenever he passed her house, but he never became angry or fought with her. One day, when she did not come out, he went to her house, found her sick, and cared for her with kindness. Surprised by his good behaviour, she embraced Islam.

3. How did forgiveness at the Conquest of Makkah change the hearts of the people?

At the Conquest of Makkah, the people feared revenge for years of cruelty, but Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) forgave them all. Thousands of people then accepted Islam with love and respect, and his forgiveness united the people and spread peace in Makkah.

4. Why were the Muslims unhappy with the Treaty of Hudaybiyah?
The Muslims were unhappy because the Quraish made very difficult conditions in the Treaty of Hudaybiyah, and many Muslims did not like the agreement. Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) still showed great patience and agreed to the terms for the sake of peace, which later brought success to Islam.

5. How did Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) treat the people at the time of the Conquest of Makkah?
When he entered Makkah as a victor, he treated the people with mercy and forgiveness instead of revenge. He forgave all of them, even those who had been cruel to him for years, and this tolerance became one of the greatest examples of mercy in history.

B) Fill in the blanks
1. Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) is the ____ Prophet of Allah.
last

2. At Ta'if, people threw ____ at Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH), but he prayed for them.
stones

3. An old woman used to throw ____ on the Prophet, Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH), but he cared for her when she was sick.

garbage

4. At the time of the Treaty of Hudaybiyah, Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) showed ____ for the sake of peace.
patience

5. At the Conquest of ____, Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) forgave the people.
Makkah

B) Oral Communication: Practise the conversation 'At Home' (mother and son) in class, in pairs, with polite replies.
C) Vocabulary and Grammar: Types of Nouns
Write the correct noun type of the underlined word in each sentence. 1. Islamabad is the capital of Pakistan. 2. Please add some sugar to my tea. 3. A flock of sheep is grazing in the field. 4. The teacher is writing on the board. 5. Ali plays football every evening.
1. Islamabad: Proper Noun, because it is the specific name of a place. 2. sugar: Uncountable Noun, because it is measured, not counted. 3. flock: Collective Noun, because it names a group of sheep. 4. teacher: Common Noun, because it is a common name for a person. 5. Ali: Proper Noun, because it is the specific name of a person.

Underline the common gender noun in each sentence. 1. My cousin is playing. 2. Students are working on a project. 3. Today is my friend's birthday. 4. The child is hungry. 5. The cook makes delicious soup.

1. cousin 2. Students 3. friend 4. child 5. cook. Each of these nouns can be used for both males and females, so it does not tell us whether the person is male or female.

C) Vocabulary and Grammar: Adjectives describe a noun (old building, tall girl); verbs are action words (She cooks rice. He writes a story.).

Activity (p.6): Look at the picture and write sentences using naming words, describing words and action words.

Model answer: A boy is climbing a tall tree. Naming word: boy, tree. Describing word: tall. Action word: climbing. Students may write their own sentences about the picture using one naming word, one describing word and one action word in each sentence.

D) Writing: Multi-syllable words

Choose the correct multisyllabic words from the word bank (courageous, ambitious, respectful, mysterious, generosity, carefully, bravely, confidently, silently, diligently) and fill in the blanks. 1. The ____ boy worked ____ on his project. 2. The teacher admired her ____ and how she answered questions ____. 3. The ____ traveler walked ____ through the forest at night. 4. The villagers praised his ____ when he gave food to the poor. 5. The ____ firefighter entered the burning house ____.

1. The ambitious boy worked diligently on his project. 2. The teacher admired her respectful manner and how she answered questions confidently. 3. The mysterious traveler walked silently through the forest at night. 4. The villagers praised his generosity when he gave food to the poor. 5. The courageous firefighter entered the burning house bravely. (Where more than one bank word fits, this is a model answer; see the flags chapter.)

Activity: Write a short paragraph to describe any place.

Model paragraph: My School. My school is a big, clean and beautiful place. It has many bright classrooms, a green playground and a small library full of storybooks. In the morning, the birds sing in the tall trees and the children play happily in the ground. I love my school because my teachers are kind and I learn many new things there every day.

Unit 2: Ten Lines on Traffic Rules

Unit 2: Ten Lines on Traffic Rules. Sidra writes ten lines about traffic rules for a class chart competition, and her teacher then teaches the whole class about traffic rules and road safety.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. What activity did the teacher ask the students to do as a co-curricular task?

The teacher asked the students to make a chart consisting of ten lines on any important topic, to decorate the classroom as a co-curricular activity. The best chart maker would be awarded a cash prize and a certificate.

2. What topic did Sidra choose for writing ten lines on her chart?

Sidra chose to write ten lines about traffic rules on her chart, because knowing traffic rules is very important for staying safe on the road.

3. What prize was announced for the best chart maker?

The teacher announced that the best chart maker would be awarded a cash prize and a certificate.

4. Write any three traffic rules that Sidra mentioned on her chart.

Three traffic rules from Sidra's chart are: never hurry while walking on the road; always obey the traffic signals; and red light means stop, yellow light means be ready, and green light means you can go. Zebra crossing should also be used to cross the road.

5. Why are traffic rules important for people on the road?

Traffic rules are important because they keep order on the road and keep us safe while crossing roads or driving. Each year, thousands of people lose their lives on roads because someone is not careful with the traffic rules.

6. What are two ways countries punish people who break traffic rules?

Countries punish people who break traffic rules with harsh punishments, and in some countries a huge fine is imposed on the driver who breaks the rules.

B) Oral Communication: Practise the conversation 'Observing Traffic Rules for Safety' (Salma and Nagina) in class.

1. We will celebrate Eid tomorrow. 2. He can speak Urdu and English. 3. Dr. Ali is a good person. 4. Pakistan Resolution Day is in March. 5. My friend's name is Ahmed Khan.

D) Writing: Informative / Explanatory Paragraph

Write an informative / explanatory paragraph on any one of: Water Conservation, Solar Energy, Healthy Eating, Role of Women in Society, Recycling.

Model paragraph (Water Conservation): Water is very precious for life on Earth, so we must save every drop of it. We should turn off the tap while brushing our teeth, fix leaking taps at once, and use a bucket instead of a pipe for washing. Farmers can save water by watering crops in the morning or evening, and rainwater can be stored for later use. If we all save water today, there will be enough clean water for everyone in the future.

Unit 3: Weather (Poem)

Unit 3: Weather (Poem) by Lucy Coates. The poem walks through the twelve months of the year, giving each month its own weather picture, from January's cold winds to December's Christmas carols.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. What is the first month of the year?

January is the first month of the year. The poem calls it a new beginning, with resolutions and cold winds blowing.

2. What did the poet say about February?

The poet says that February has frosty fogs, that winter shivers, and that logs burn warm in the fire. February is shown as a cold, frosty winter month.

3. How has the poet described June?

The poet describes June as bringing summer blazing in, with the scent of roses and the sun on the skin. June is shown as a hot, bright summer month.

4. What happens in March?

In March, the wind blows, the air smells of spring, leaves peek out, and brave blackbirds sing. March is shown as the windy start of spring.

5. Which is the coldest month of the year?

February is the coldest month described in the poem, because the poet gives it frosty fogs and shivering winter, with warmth coming only from fire-warm logs. (The poem does not name a coldest month directly; see the flags chapter.)

B) Oral Communication: Practise the birthday-party conversation (Amina and Faryal) about balloons and tablecloths in class.

C) Vocabulary and Grammar: Prepositions

1. The cat is hiding ____ the table. (under / on / in)

under

2. She is standing ____ the bus stop. (at / in / on)

at

C) Vocabulary and Grammar: Rhyming Strings

Complete the rhyming string: hat, cat, ___; king, ring, ___; look, book, ___; stay, play, ___; tug, jug, rug, bug, hug, ___.

hat, cat, mat (or bat, sat); king, ring, sing (or thing, wing); look, book, hook (or cook, took); stay, play, day (or way, say); tug, jug, rug, bug, hug, mug. Any word with the same ending sound completes the string.

D) Writing: Paraphrasing

Paraphrase the following: March blows windy, smells of spring, Leaves peek out, brave blackbirds sing. April showers fall soft and slow, Earth wakes up, and green things grow.

Model paraphrase: In March, the wind blows strongly and the air smells of spring, as new leaves appear and brave blackbirds sing. In April, gentle showers fall softly and slowly, the earth wakes up from winter, and green plants begin to grow.

Revision: Units 1 to 3

Revision of Units 1 to 3. These questions repeat work from Units 1, 2 and 3, so the answers are the same as in those units.

1. Answer the following questions

1. What happened to the Prophet Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) in Ta'if, and how did he respond?

At Ta'if, the people threw stones at Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) and badly hurt him when he invited them to Islam. He did not curse them; he prayed that their future generations would turn to Islam, and many people of Ta'if later accepted Islam.

2. Why were the Muslims unhappy with the Treaty of Hudaybiyyah?

The Muslims were unhappy because the Quraish made very difficult conditions in the treaty, and many Muslims did not like the agreement. Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) agreed to the terms for the sake of peace, and this patience later brought success to Islam.

3. What did the poet say about February?

The poet says that February has frosty fogs, that winter shivers, and that logs burn warm in the fire.

4. Which is the coldest month of the year?

February is the coldest month described in the poem, with its frosty fogs and shivering winter. (See the flags chapter: the poem does not name a coldest month directly.)

2. Underline the common gender noun

Underline the common gender noun in each sentence. 1. My cousin is playing. 2. Students are working on a project. 3. Today is my friend's birthday. 4. The child is hungry. 5. The cook makes delicious soup.

1. cousin 2. Students 3. friend 4. child 5. cook.

These

5. Who owns ____ car parked outside? (This / That) that

5. Explanatory text on Global Warming

Write an explanatory text on 'Global Warming'.

Model text: Global warming means the slow rise in the Earth's temperature. It happens because smoke from cars and factories and the burning of fuels fill the air with harmful gases that trap heat. Because of global warming, ice melts, seas rise, and the weather becomes hotter with more floods and droughts. We can slow global warming by planting more trees, saving electricity, and using clean energy like sunlight instead of smoke-making fuels.

6. Fill in the blanks with prepositions

1. The cat is hiding ____ the table. (under / on / in)

under

2. She is standing ____ the bus stop. (at / in / on)

at

3. The birds are flying ____ the sky. (over / between / under) over

4. He is sitting ____ his friends. (between / under / over) between

5. We will meet ____ Monday. (in / on / at)

on

7. Write the plural of the following

Write the plural of: one sheep, one deer, one fish, one aircraft.

one sheep: two sheep (or many sheep). one deer: two deer. one fish: two fish. one aircraft: two aircraft. These nouns do not change in the plural form.

Unit 4: Fossils

Unit 4: Fossils. Fossils are the remains of plants and animals that lived millions of years ago, preserved in rocks that were once mud or sand.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. How are fossils formed?

When an animal or plant dies, its soft parts decompose quickly, but the hard parts like bones, shells or teeth can stay. By the passage of time, these hard parts are covered by mud, the mud gets pressed down and turns into rock, and the bones become part of the rock. These are called fossils.

2. Where are fossils stored after discovery?

After discovery, paleontologists record where the fossil was found and what kind of rock it was in, and then they keep the fossil in a museum for study.

3. Why are fossils important to the scientists?

Fossils are important to scientists because they help us learn about life on Earth long ago, how plants and animals have changed over time, and how creatures adapted to their environments. Geologists also use fossils to tell how old rocks are and to match rocks from different places.

4. Which parts of animals were preserved in the mud and became fossils?

The hard parts of animals were preserved: bones, shells and teeth. Sometimes only the shape of the plant or animal, or footprints and marks, are left behind, and these are called trace fossils.

5. What can we learn about the Earth by studying fossils?

By studying fossils, we can learn about life on Earth long ago, about evolution and the changes in the environment, and about the Earth's history. Fossils also help scientists know which rocks are older or younger.

Activity: Complete the paragraph with words from the word bank

Complete the paragraph. Word bank: history, important, life, scientists, changed, Geologists, evolution. Fossils are very ____. They help us learn about ____ on Earth long ago. Fossils show how plants and animals have ____ over time. They help us understand ____ and how creatures adapted to their environments. Fossils also tell us about the Earth's ____ and the changes in the environment. ____ use fossils to tell how old rocks are. Some fossils are good guide fossils. They help ____ match rocks from different places and know which are older or younger.

Fossils are very important. They help us learn about life on Earth long ago. Fossils show how plants and animals have changed over time. They help us understand evolution and how creatures adapted to their environments. Fossils also tell us about the Earth's history and the changes in the environment. Geologists use fossils to tell how old rocks are. Some fossils are good guide fossils. They help scientists match rocks from different places and know which are older or younger.

B) Oral Communication: Practise the conversation 'to express needs and feelings' (Shahista and friend) in class.

C) Vocabulary and Grammar: each other / one another

1. peacefully qualifies the verb slept. 2. really qualifies the adjective hard. 3. extremely qualifies the adverb politely. 4. very qualifies the adjective beautiful. 5. too qualifies the adverb quickly.

C) Vocabulary and Grammar: Adverbs (kinds)

Fill in the blanks with a suitable adverb (hint in brackets). 1. He runs ____. (manner) 2. We will go shopping ____. (time) 3. The children are playing ____. (place) 4. She ____ forgets her homework. (frequency) 5. The old man walked ____. (manner)

Model answers: 1. He runs quickly. 2. We will go shopping tomorrow. 3. The children are playing outside. 4. She never forgets her homework. 5. The old man walked slowly. (Other adverbs of the same kind are also correct.)

D) Writing: Multi-paragraph writing on 'My Best Teacher'

Write about 'My Best Teacher' by following the process in the unit (brainstorming, mind map, first draft).

Model draft: Paragraph 1 (Introduction): Everyone needs a good teacher in life. My best teacher is Miss Fatima, who teaches us English in Class 4. Paragraph 2 (Qualities): She is kind, patient and honest, and she explains every lesson in a simple and clear way. Paragraph 3 (Activities): We read stories, learn new words and play learning games in her class, and she helps me whenever I face a difficulty. Paragraph 4 (Importance): She is important to me because she encourages me to work hard and to speak with confidence. Paragraph 5 (Conclusion): Miss Fatima is not only my teacher but also like a kind guide, and I am lucky to be her student.

Unit 5: The Wise Ruler

Unit 5: The Wise Ruler. In a land with a strange law, a king rules for only three years and is then left in a dark forest, until one brave man changes everything by caring for his people.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. What was the strange law in the country about becoming king?

The strange law was that whoever became king could rule for only three years. After that, he would be taken into a dark, dense forest and left there to die.

2. Why were people afraid to accept the throne?

People were afraid to accept the throne because of this cruel law: after only three years as king, they would be left in the dark forest to die, so no one dared to sit on the throne.

3. What was the first clever order the new king gave to his soldiers?

The first clever order the new king gave was for his soldiers to build a wide road through the forest. The soldiers worked hard, and soon a clear path appeared through the forest.

4. Why did the people refuse to send the king into the forest after three years?

After three years, the people refused to send him into the forest because, unlike the kings before him who only cared for their palaces, he had cared for the people. He had solved their problems, dug wells, built hospitals and schools, planted trees and given them a better life, so they could not let him go.

5. What lesson can we learn from this story about leadership and caring for others?

The lesson is that a true leader cares for his people instead of only himself. A ruler who solves people's problems, gives justice and works for their welfare wins their love and respect, and good leadership brings a better life for everyone.

B) Oral Communication: Role-play the four everyday conversations in pairs (introducing, giving directions, making a call, making a request).

Revision: Units 4 to 6

Revision of Units 4 to 6. These questions repeat work from Units 4, 5 and 6.

Answer the following questions

1. What are trace fossils?

Trace fossils are the shapes, footprints or marks left behind by a plant or animal after its body decomposed. They show where an animal walked or lived, even though the body itself is gone.

2. Why are fossils important?

Fossils are important because they help us learn about life on Earth long ago, how plants and animals changed over time, and how creatures adapted to their environments. They also tell us about the Earth's history and help scientists tell how old rocks are.

3. Can we get real happiness by teasing a person or animal?

No, we cannot get real happiness by teasing a person or animal, because teasing hurts others and makes them sad. Real happiness comes from kindness, sharing and caring for others, just as the lessons in these units teach.

4. How does the poem describe a family?

The poem describes a family as a little world and a place of comfort, hope and cheer, where the family stands near in laughter, tears and every day.

Unit 7: Importance of Discipline in Life

Unit 7: Importance of Discipline in Life. Discipline means following rules and principles in an orderly way, and without it no one can get success in life.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. What does discipline mean?

Discipline means following rules and principles in an orderly way. Everything in nature follows rules: the sun, moon and stars move by fixed laws, and our body organs work in an orderly way.

2. What happens if people do not follow rules?

If people do not follow rules, life becomes unsafe and difficult. A driver who breaks traffic rules causes accidents, a family system is disturbed if members do not do their duties, and nations that did not follow discipline became weak.

3. How does discipline help students? (Give two points)

Discipline helps students to be on time and to stay calm, and it teaches them to do important work first. It also builds a positive attitude, improves their performance step by step, and builds a healthy mind and body.

4. What happens to a team if players do not obey their captain?

If players do not obey their captain, the team loses. If they show discipline, they can win.

5. What should we do to make Pakistan a great country?
To make Pakistan a great country, we must be disciplined. We should follow traffic rules and stay disciplined in school, in classrooms and in daily life.

Unit 8: The Courtesy in Passing (Poem)

Unit 8: The Courtesy in Passing (Poem). The poem shows politeness in small daily acts: a quiet nod, a gentle 'please', doors held open, thank-yous whispered, and a smile shared in strangers' eyes.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. What are some polite words mentioned in the poem?

Some polite words in the poem are 'please', 'thank-you' and 'You're welcome'. The poem also mentions a quiet nod, soft tones and a smile shared in strangers' eyes.

2. What should you do when someone helps you?

When someone helps you, you should say thank you, as the poem says: 'Thank-you's whispered, You're welcome said.' You should show thanks with warmth and gentle manners.

3. How does being polite make others feel?

Being polite puts a heart at ease and plants a peace that remains. Gentle manners bind our wounds, soothe our fears, and make love felt in passing years.

4. What is one example of good manners from the poem?

One example of good manners from the poem is holding doors open for others, or walking with slow footsteps and soft tones. Another example is forgiving small mistakes when tempers flare.

5. Why is it important to be polite every day?

It is important to be polite every day because gentle manners weave the air that binds us together. We may forget loud praise and grand affairs, but politeness soothes fears, keeps peace, and makes love felt in passing years.

Unit 9: Mehrgarh Tour

Unit 9: Mehrgarh Tour. On a museum visit, Sarah tells Ahmad about Mehrgarh in the Kachhi district of Balochistan, one of the oldest known settlements in the world, dating back to around 7000 BC.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. Why is Mehrgarh considered one of the oldest settlements in the world?

Mehrgarh is considered one of the oldest known settlements in the world because it dates back to around 7000 BC, and it came before the Indus Valley Civilization. It is where civilization in South Asia began.

2. How did the people of Mehrgarh survive without modern technology?

The people of Mehrgarh were intelligent: they made stone tools, built homes with mud bricks, and stored food in large clay pots. They grew wheat and barley, raised goats and sheep, and over time started using copper and crafting more advanced tools.

3. Why did the people of Mehrgarh bury their dead with belongings?

The people of Mehrgarh buried their dead with their belongings because they believed in an afterlife. Their burial sites also tell us a lot about their culture and beliefs.

4. How did Mehrgarh influence the Indus Valley Civilization?

Mehrgarh influenced the Indus Valley Civilization because the early ideas of agriculture, trade, art and community living all started there and later shaped the Indus Valley Civilization. Mehrgarh came first, and its people laid the foundation for future generations.

5. What were the skills of the Mehrgarh's craftsmen?

The craftsmen of Mehrgarh were skilled: they made jewellery from stones, shells and bones, and they grew cotton and spun it into threads to make clothes, long before many other civilizations.

Unit 10: Planting Trees is a Continuous Charity

Unit 10: Planting Trees is a Continuous Charity. Planting trees is Sadaqa e Jariyah: a good deed that keeps giving reward even after a person's death.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. What is Sadaqa e Jariyah?

Sadaqa e Jariyah is continuous charity: good deeds that give reward to a person even after his or her death. When a person dies, his or her deeds stop except for three things: continuous charity, useful knowledge, and a faithful child who prays for him or her.

2. Why is planting a tree Sadaqa e Jariyah?

Planting a tree is Sadaqa e Jariyah because a person who plants trees keeps getting rewards from it. Trees protect us from climate change and diseases, clean the air, give oxygen and food, and keep the earth balanced, so their benefit continues long after planting.

3. What is the main cause of air pollution?

The main cause of air pollution is smoke from cars, factories and burning waste. Pollution causes problems like global warming, acid rain, ozone damage and diseases.

4. According to experts, how much percent of the total land of a country should be covered by forests?

According to experts, 25% of a country's land should have forests.

In Pakistan, only 2-3% of land has forests, which is a very low ratio, so planting trees is the duty of every citizen.

5. Which gas is provided by trees?
Trees provide oxygen, which is necessary for humans and animals. Plants and trees also clean the air by absorbing pollution.

B) Oral Communication: Debates: argue for or against a topic using evidence, in class, following the debate steps in the unit. Steps for planting a tree (from the lesson): choose and clear the place, dig a hole, bring a plant from a nursery, remove the plastic bag, put the plant in the hole, cover the roots with soil, add more soil around the stem, water gently, and protect the plant from harm and disease.

They are going to play cricket on Sunday. 6. He will study hard for the test. 7. I shall return the book to you soon. 8. We are going to watch a movie tonight. 9. Shall I open the window? 10. She is going to buy a new dress next week. (Where both 'will' and 'be going to' fit, the planned-action form is given.)

C) Vocabulary and Grammar: Transitional Words

Fill in the blanks with the correct transitional words. 1. ____ Ali woke up early in the morning. (Meanwhile / Firstly) 2. He brushed his teeth and ____ ate breakfast. (next / far away) 3. ____, his mother called him to get ready for school. (In front of / Later on) 4. The school was ____, so he walked there quickly. (nearby / finally) 5. ____ he met his friends in the classroom. (Suddenly / Secondly)

1. Firstly, Ali woke up early in the morning. 2. He brushed his teeth and next ate breakfast. 3. Later on, his mother called him to get ready for school. 4. The school was nearby, so he walked there quickly. 5. Suddenly, he met his friends in the classroom.

D) Writing: Opinion Piece

Write an opinion piece about any book you have read.

Model piece: The book I read is a storybook about a kind king. In my opinion, it is a very good book because it teaches us to care for others. I like it because the king helps poor people, and I also like its simple and clear language. Overall, I believe this book is a useful and interesting book for every student.

Unit 12: Wind on the Hill (Poem)

Unit 12: Wind on the Hill (Poem) by A. A. Milne. The poet cannot keep up with the wind, but thinks that if he let go of his kite string, he could follow where the wind goes.

A) Reading and Critical Thinking

1. Tell some rhyming words from the poem.

Rhyming words from the poem are: knows and goes; can and ran; kite and night; blew and too. The poem opens and closes with the same knows / goes rhyme.

2. How did the poet explain the speed of wind?

The poet explains the speed of the wind by saying it flies from somewhere as fast as it can, and he could not keep up with it, not even if he ran.

3. How did the poet come to know where the wind goes to?

The poet says that if he stopped holding the string of his kite, the kite would blow with the wind for a day and a night. Then, when he found the kite wherever it blew, he would know that the wind had been going there too.

4. Can someone tell where the wind comes from?

No, nobody can tell where the wind comes from. The poem says: 'No one can tell me, nobody knows, where the wind comes from, where the wind goes.'

5. Have you ever flown a kite and observed the power of wind? Share your experience.

Model answer: Yes, I have flown a kite with my brother on a windy evening. The wind pulled the kite high into the sky and made the string tight in my hand, and when the wind became stronger, the kite danced and dived in the air. I learned that the wind is very powerful, and we must hold the string tightly or the kite will fly away. (Students should write their own experience.)

B) Oral Communication: Listening activity on stress and intonation: listen to the teacher read the five sentences, then tell whether each is a statement, question or command, which word is stressed, and whether the voice rose or fell. 1. I am going to the market. (statement, falling) 2. Are you coming to the park? (question, rising) 3. Please sit down. (command, falling) 4. I didn't eat your cake. (statement, falling) 5. Can you help me with my homework? (question, rising)

A note on flagged items in the printed book

Nothing in this chapter is invented as book content. These are the places where the notes had to use judgement, because the book itself is open, unclear, or silent. All other answers follow the lesson text and the grammar rules taught in the unit.

Unit 1, Writing word-bank activity: more than one bank word can fit some blanks.

The word bank has ten words for ten blanks, but the fit is not unique for every blank. The notes give one sensible model set (ambitious + diligently; respectful + confidently; mysterious + silently; generosity; courageous + bravely), leaving 'carefully' unused. A student's answer with another fitting bank word in a blank should also be accepted.

Unit 3, Question 5 and Revision 1 to 3, Question 4: 'Which is the coldest month of the year?'

The poem does not name any month as the coldest. The notes answer February, because February is the month the poem describes with frosty fogs and shivering winter. This is an inference from the poem's description, not a line quoted from it.

Unit 4, Adverb-kind activity and Unit 10, -ly adverb activity: open blanks.

These blanks have no single correct word; any adverb of the hinted kind (or any fitting -ly adverb) is correct. The notes give model answers only.

Unit 9, 'rhyme, rhythm, repetition, simile, sensory image' activity, item 2: 'The bright moon smiled down at me.'

This sentence is personification (the moon smiling), which is not one of the five labels the activity offers. Among the offered labels, the notes mark it as a sensory image (sight), and flag here that the fit is imperfect. The other four items are unambiguous: repetition, rhyme, simile, rhythm.

Unit 11, Question 5: 'How much time do you give to the internet?'

This is a personal question with no book answer. The notes give a model answer (a limited time, about one hour a day for study) and state that students should write their own honest answer.

Unit 12, Question 1: rhyming words.

The poem's rhyme pattern is loose in the middle stanzas. The notes give the clear pairs (knows / goes, can / ran) and note the near rhymes, rather than forcing a perfect pair for every line.

Revision 4 to 6, Question 3: 'Can we get real happiness by teasing a person or animal?'

No lesson passage in Units 4 to 6 discusses teasing directly. The notes answer from the values taught across the book (kindness, sharing, caring for others): no, teasing hurts others, and real happiness comes from kindness.

Oral communication, listening and drama activities: no written answers exist in the book.

Conversations to practise, dialogues, group discussions, listening passages and drama enactments are classroom speaking activities. The notes record what to practise and, where the book gives a listening passage with questions (Unit 8, Zoo visit), give the answers. They do not invent written answers for pure practice tasks.

Spelling of the Prophet's name and honorific in these notes.

The book prints the Arabic honorific calligraphy after the name. These notes use '(PBUH)' in plain text, because the English notes font cannot reliably print the book's calligraphic form.
