Question: Activity: Students should write an introduction about the different religious days of Hindu Dharam and present it in class, e.g. Shivratri, Holi, Diwali.

Answer: This is a class activity with no single fixed answer. Method: write each day's name, its date/time and the way it is celebrated, and present it in class. Worked example: Shivratri (Maha Shivratri) — on the dark thirteenth date of the month of Magh, the eleventh month of the Vikrami calendar, mostly in the month of February, Hindus worship their great deity Shiva Shankar, keep a fast at night and stay awake for all four watches of the night. Introductions to Holi and Diwali are not given in this lesson; other lessons/book material would be needed for those.
