Pakistan Studies

Class 10 (English Medium)

Solved Exercises — Sindh Textbook Board

13 lessons — 187 questions

باب پهريون: پاڪستان جي نظرياتي اساس

Question: 1. What are the sources of an ideology?

Answer: The sources of an ideology are its basic origins. The Islamic ideology has three sources: (1) the Holy Quran, (2) the Sunnah of the Prophet (PBUH), (3) customs and traditions in the light of Islamic teachings.

Question: 2. Why is an ideology important for a nation?

Answer: An ideology mirrors the thoughts and thinking of the people, unites them on one platform, guides national movements, helps in choosing leaders, and prepares people to sacrifice for their cause. Without it no nation can progress.

Question: 3. State the principles of democracy in Islam.

Answer: Democracy in Islam has four principles: (1) justice — putting everything in its right place; (2) equality — no distinction on the basis of colour, race, language, belief or wealth; all people are equal before the law; (3) brotherhood — all Muslims are brothers to one another; (4) tolerance — respect for and forbearance towards the views and beliefs of others.

Question: 4. What place does national character hold in an ideology?

Answer: National character is formed in the light of an ideology. When people have firm faith in their ideology, they dedicate their lives and property to it, work with honesty and integrity, love their homeland, work hard, and prefer the national interest over personal interest. Such character alone makes a nation strong.

Question: 5. Mention the sayings of the Quaid-e-Azam about the ideology of Pakistan.

Answer: The Quaid-e-Azam (1876-1948) said that Pakistan does not merely mean obtaining a piece of land; we want to build a laboratory where we can enforce our practical system on Islamic principles. At the Muslim League session in Lahore on 23 March 1940 he clarified the ideological basis of the Islamic state, and in January 1941 he said that India has never been one country or one nation; Hinduism and Islam are two separate social and civil systems, so the two nations cannot be merged into one nation.

Question: 6. Did Allama Iqbal give any statement about the ideology of Pakistan?

Answer: Yes. In his presidential address at the annual session of the All India Muslim League at Allahabad in December 1930, Allama Iqbal (1877-1938) said that India is not one country but a small subcontinent, inhabited by people of different religions and languages. He said that the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province, Sindh and Balochistan should be combined into a separate state for the Muslims, which would be the final destination of the Muslims of north-west India.

Question: 7. What things are included in an ideology?

Answer: An ideology includes organised ideas about life and thought: beliefs, views, aims of life, customs and traditions, culture and way of life. Together these shape people's thinking, character and social life.

Question: (i) The ideology of Pakistan is based on ___.

Answer: Islam (the Islamic ideology). The ideology of Pakistan rests on the basic beliefs and teachings of Islam.

Question: (ii) Islam is the most ___ democratic (religion).

Answer: Truly. [note: This blank is filled according to the sense of the book's democracy section; the word is not given letter-by-letter in the book.] In Islam all people are equal before the law and the ruler is the representative of the people.

Question: (iii) Arranging things in their proper place is called ___.

Answer: Justice. The literal meaning of justice is to put everything in its right place.

Question: (iv) Allama Iqbal gave his statement about the ideology of Pakistan in his presidential address at ___ in ___.

Answer: Allahabad, 1930. In December 1930 he delivered the presidential address at the annual session of the All India Muslim League at Allahabad.

Question: (v) The Quaid-e-Azam said that ___ and ___ are different social systems.

Answer: Hinduism and Islam. He said that these are not merely two religions but two separate social and civil systems.

Question: (vi) Faith rests on ___ and ___.

Answer: The Oneness of Allah (Tawhid) and the Prophethood (Risalat). The most important aspects of a Muslim's faith are complete belief in the Oneness of Allah and in the Prophethood of the last Prophet (PBUH).

Question: (vii) Ukhuwwat means ___.

Answer: Brotherhood. The Holy Quran says that all believers are brothers to one another.

Question: (viii) Character, habits and manners are the ___ of ___.

Answer: Reflection of an ideology. A person's habits, manners and way of life together reflect his ideology.

Question: (ix) The sources of the Islamic ideology are ___ and ___.

Answer: The Holy Quran and the Sunnah of the Prophet (PBUH). Together with these, customs in line with Islamic teachings are also a source of the Islamic ideology.

باب پيو: پاڪستان جي تشڪيل

Question: 1. What were the objectives of the Faraizi Movement?

Answer: The objectives of the Faraizi Movement (Haji Shariatullah, 1760, Faridpur, Bengal) were: (1) to revive Islamic customs among the Muslims of Bengal and end un-Islamic customs; (2) to guide Muslims to live according to Islamic teachings; (3) to protect the rights of the Muslim peasants of Bengal and to create self-confidence and self-respect in them.

Question: 2. Why did India not become independent on 14 August 1947?

Answer: Under the 3 June 1947 Plan and the Indian Independence Act, the transfer of power was fixed in such a way that Pakistan became independent on 14 August 1947 and India on 15 August 1947. According to the book, 14 August was the 27th of Ramadan (1366 AH), the night also called Shab-e-Qadr.

Question: 3. Throw light on the role of Shah Waliullah in the movement for the revival of Islam.

Answer: Shah Waliullah (1703-1762, Delhi), seeing the religious and moral decline of the Muslims, began the work of reviving Islam: (1) he translated the Holy Quran into Persian so that common people could understand it; (2) in his famous book "Hujjatullah al-Baligha" he presented Islam as a universal religion; (3) he invited Ahmad Shah Abdali, as a result of which the Marathas were defeated in the third Battle of Panipat in 1761; (4) his sons and grandsons also continued this work.

Question: 4. Describe the struggle of Syed Ahmed Shaheed to remove social evils from the Punjab and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa.

Answer: Syed Ahmed Shaheed (1786, Rae Bareli) started the "Mujahideen Movement" against polytheism, innovations and un-Islamic customs. In 1826 he made Nowshera his centre, waged jihad against the Sikhs (Akora 1826, the Hazro battles), and as "Amir-ul-Momineen" enforced Islamic laws in those areas. Finally, on 6 May 1831, he was martyred fighting the Sikhs at Balakot, but his struggle became an example for the revival of Islamic society.

Question: 5. Describe the achievements of the Aligarh Movement.

Answer: Sir Syed Ahmed Khan (1817-1898) started the Aligarh Movement for the reawakening of the Muslims after the 1857 War of Independence: (1) by writing "Asbab-e-Baghavat-e-Hind" he removed the doubts about Muslims from the minds of the British; (2) in 1862 he founded the Scientific Society at Ghazipur and translated modern knowledge into Urdu; (3) he founded a school at Aligarh and then the M.A.O. College (1877); (4) through the journal "Tehzeeb-ul-Akhlaq" he attracted Muslims towards new education and science; (5) by supporting Urdu in the Urdu-Hindi controversy he laid the basis of the Two-Nation Theory.

Question: 6. What is the "Two-Nation Theory"?

Answer: The Two-Nation Theory is that in India the Hindus and the Muslims are two separate nations: their religions, cultures, civilisations, laws, heroes and ways of life are quite different from each other, so they cannot live together as one nation. Sir Syed Ahmed Khan was the first Muslim leader to use the word "nation" for the Muslims of the subcontinent; later Allama Iqbal (1930) and the Quaid-e-Azam carried this theory forward.

Question: 7. Throw light on the role of the Muslim League in the struggle for Pakistan.

Answer: The All India Muslim League was founded at Dhaka on 30 December 1906. It protected the rights of the Muslims, concluded the Lucknow Pact in 1916, was reorganised by the Quaid-e-Azam in 1934, passed the Pakistan Resolution at Lahore on 23 March 1940, won the majority of Muslim seats in the 1945-46 elections, and remained the central platform of the struggle for Pakistan up to the 3 June 1947 Plan.

Question: 8. What role did the provinces play in the struggle for Pakistan?

Answer: Every province took part: in the Punjab, the poetry of Allama Iqbal, the 1940 Lahore session, success in the 1945-46 elections, and the struggle of women and students; in Sindh, the 1938 Karachi session, support for the 1940 Resolution, and the Muslim League government in 1945-46; in Balochistan, the spread of the Muslim League through the efforts of Qazi Muhammad Isa and the Shahi Jirga's decision to join Pakistan; in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, the Muslim League's civil disobedience and the vote for Pakistan in the 1947 referendum.

Question: 9. What are the responsibilities of the citizens of an ideological state?

Answer: According to the book, the responsibilities of the citizens of an ideological state are: (1) to live according to Islamic teachings; (2) to establish a democratic system on Islamic principles; (3) loyalty to the homeland and sacrifice when needed; (4) to earn a lawful livelihood; (5) to get education; (6) to respect the law; (7) to take part in constructive activities; (8) to take part in welfare work; (9) to pay taxes; (10) to uphold Muslim brotherhood and human dignity.

Question: 10. Explain the character and prominent qualities of the Quaid-e-Azam which make him a model for others.

Answer: The Quaid-e-Azam was a principled, honest, selfless, brave, steadfast, patient, wise and hard-working leader. He never compromised on his principles, never preferred personal interest over the interests of the Muslims, worked with a broad vision, and dedicated every moment of his life to Pakistan. These qualities of his character make him a model for all.

Question: 11. Describe the role of the Quaid-e-Azam as Governor General.

Answer: As Governor General the Quaid-e-Azam solved Pakistan's early problems: (1) he created national unity and said that now we are all only Pakistanis; (2) he rehabilitated 6.5 million refugees and set up the "Quaid-e-Azam Relief Fund"; (3) he directed government officers to work with honesty and integrity; (4) he gave the message of ending provincial and racial discrimination; (5) on 1 July 1948 he inaugurated the State Bank and gave the guiding principles of Pakistan's economy; (6) he laid the foundations of foreign policy; (7) he advised students to pay full attention to education; (8) despite illness he worked day and night until his last breath.

Question: (i) The Muslim League was founded in ___.

Answer: 1906 (Dhaka). The All India Muslim League was founded at Dhaka on 30 December 1906.

Question: (ii) In the Aligarh Movement, the Scientific Society was founded in 1862 at ___.

Answer: Ghazipur. Sir Syed Ahmed Khan founded the Scientific Society at Ghazipur in 1862.

Question: (iii) In Balochistan the Muslim League was founded by ___.

Answer: Qazi Muhammad Isa. He made the Muslim League an organised and popular party in Balochistan.

Question: (iv) Shah Waliullah died in the year ___.

Answer: 1762. Shah Waliullah died on 10 August 1762.

Question: (v) In ___ Sindh became a separate province.

Answer: 1936 (under the Act of 1935). Under the Act of 1935 Sindh got the status of a province separate from Bombay.

Question: (vi) Pakistan came into being on the ___ of Ramadan.

Answer: 27th of Ramadan (1366 AH). 14 August 1947 was the 27th of Ramadan.

باب ٹیون: اسلامي جمهوريه پاکستان آئيني ارتقا

Question: 1. Why is a constitution necessary for a country?

Answer: A constitution is the body of laws and rules by which the system of a country or state and the business of government are run. Through the constitution the organs of government are formed, their powers are fixed, the rights of citizens are protected, and every person remains bound by the law. Without a constitution no government can run in an organised way.

Question: 2. What are the important features of the Objectives Resolution?

Answer: The Objectives Resolution was passed on 12 March 1949. Its important features are: (1) all sovereignty and supreme authority over the universe belongs to Allah, and authority will be exercised by the people as a trust from Allah; (2) the principles of democracy, freedom, equality, tolerance and social justice presented by Islam will be enforced in the country; (3) Muslims will lead their individual and collective lives according to the principles of the Quran and Sunnah; (4) the rights of minorities will be protected; (5) Pakistan will be a federal state; (6) the fundamental rights and freedom of the people will be guaranteed.

Question: 3. State the distinctive features of the Constitution of 1956.

Answer: The Constitution of 1956 came into force on 23 March 1956. Its distinctive features: (1) it stated at the outset that sovereignty and supreme authority belong to Allah and declared Pakistan an "Islamic Republic"; (2) a federal parliamentary system of government was set up in the country; (3) the office of President replaced that of the Governor General; (4) powers were divided between the centre and the provinces under the federal system; (5) Muslims were given every opportunity to live according to Islamic teachings; (6) the government would establish friendly relations with the Muslims of the world; (7) the head of state would be a Muslim; (8) no law could be made against the Quran and Sunnah; (9) the President would appoint a commission to recommend making the existing laws Islamic; (10) the rights of non-Muslim minorities were protected.

Question: 4. Why did East Pakistan separate from West Pakistan?

Answer: The causes of East Pakistan's separation given in the book are: (1) the geographical distance between the two wings, with India in between; (2) differences in social and economic structure; (3) repeated imposition of martial law; (4) the language issue; (5) the demand for provincial autonomy; (6) economic deprivation and propaganda about it; (7) the role of Hindu teachers; (8) international conspiracies; (9) Sheikh Mujibur Rahman's majority in the 1970 elections; (10) military action in East Pakistan; (11) India's attack. As a result, on 16 December 1971 the Pakistani army laid down arms at Dhaka and East Pakistan became a separate country as "Bangladesh".

Question: 5. What role should Pakistanis play to bring prosperity to the country?

Answer: According to the book, for the stability and prosperity of Pakistan every Pakistani should play this role: (1) work hard and progress in every field; (2) rise above provincialism and regionalism; (3) express love for Pakistan and patriotism through words and deeds; (4) educate the young (new) generation; (5) try to become self-reliant and avoid depending on loans or aid from others; (6) help establish a system of government based on social justice and brotherhood; (7) feel proud of being Pakistani.

Question: 6. Write down the important points of the Constitution of 1973.

Answer: The Constitution of 1973 came into force on 14 August 1973. Its important points: (1) the constitution was based on the Objectives Resolution; (2) the country's name was kept "Islamic Republic of Pakistan" and Islam was declared the state religion; (3) the definition of a Muslim was made part of the constitution; (4) the President and the Prime Minister will be Muslims; (5) the Objectives Resolution was included as the Preamble of the constitution; (6) a federal parliamentary system was set up in the country, with greater powers given to the Prime Minister; (7) Parliament consists of two houses — the Senate and the National Assembly; (8) autonomy was given to the provinces; (9) independence of the judiciary was declared necessary for the protection of the people's rights; (10) the Islamic Ideological Council was established; (11) resolve was expressed to strengthen relations with Muslim countries; (12) necessary steps will be taken for the promotion of Islamic teachings and the Arabic language.

Question: (i) Early man lived in the form of small ___.

Answer: Tribes. Early man lived in the form of small tribes.

Question: (ii) Immediately after its creation Pakistan needed a new ___.

Answer: Constitution. Until a new constitution was made, the Government of India Act 1935 was accepted as an interim constitution with some necessary amendments.

Question: (iii) In the preamble of the Constitution of 1956 it is stated that ___ belongs to Allah.

Answer: Sovereignty and supreme authority. The preamble of the Constitution of 1956 states that sovereignty and supreme authority belong to Allah.

Question: (iv) ___ heads of Muslim states took part in the Second Islamic Summit Conference.

Answer: About forty. About forty heads of Muslim states took part in the Second Islamic Summit Conference held at Lahore in 1974.

Question: (v) Pakistan recognised Bangladesh during the ___.

Answer: Second Islamic Summit Conference (Lahore, February 1974). On that occasion Pakistan recognised Bangladesh as an independent state.

Question: (vi) The Constitution of 1973 is based on ___.

Answer: The Objectives Resolution. The Constitution of 1973 is based on the Objectives Resolution.

Question: (vii) Pakistan's first Constituent Assembly was dissolved by ___.

Answer: Governor General Ghulam Muhammad. Governor General Ghulam Muhammad dissolved the Constituent Assembly on 24 October 1954.

Question: (viii) In Pakistan's constitutions it is stated that supreme authority and supreme sovereignty belong to ___.

Answer: Allah. Pakistan's constitutions state that supreme authority and supreme sovereignty belong to Allah.

باب چوٿون: پاڪستان جي سرزمين  آب و هوا

Question: 1. What is meant by climate?

Answer: The long-term weather condition of an area is called its climate, such as the average state of its temperature, rainfall (humidity) and wind. Weather is the condition of one day, while climate is the average of many years.

Question: 2. What are the different climatic regions of Pakistan?

Answer: According to the book, Pakistan is divided into four climatic regions: (1) the mountainous climatic region — the northern and western mountain areas of Pakistan; (2) the plateau climatic region — mostly the plateau area of Balochistan; (3) the plains climatic region — the upper plain of the River Indus (Punjab) and the lower plain (Sindh); (4) the coastal climatic region — the coastal areas of Sindh and Balochistan.

Question: 3. How does climate affect human life?

Answer: Climate deeply affects human life: it determines people's ways of living, dress, food, occupations, games, customs and economic activities. In the cold northern areas people wear warm clothes, eat more meat and ghee, and stay confined to their homes in winter; while in the hot and plains areas people wear light clothes, eat rice and vegetables, and remain busy in agriculture and trade throughout the year.

Question: 4. What is meant by environmental pollution?

Answer: Environmental pollution means such undesirable changes in the land, water and air as are harmful to human and animal life. When various factors bring unhealthy changes upon our environment, it is called environmental pollution. It has three kinds: air pollution, water pollution and land pollution.

Question: 5. What is the relation of environmental pollution with the increase in population?

Answer: With the increase in population, environmental pollution grows: more people need more vehicles, factories, houses and waste, which pollutes the air, water and land more. According to the book, in countries like Pakistan pollution is increasing day by day, and to reduce it, planting trees, disposing of waste properly and creating awareness among the people are necessary.

Question: 6. Describe the importance of Pakistan's location in the South Asian region.

Answer: Pakistan is located in the south of South Asia and its location is of great importance: (1) in the north it is connected with China through the Karakoram Highway; (2) it gives Afghanistan a route to reach the sea; (3) it is the basis of economic cooperation (E.C.O.) with Iran and Central Asia; (4) in the south is the Karachi port on the Arabian Sea, which is the gateway of trade with the Middle East and Europe; (5) it is one of the largest Islamic countries of the world and holds an important position in the Islamic world.

Question: 7. Briefly describe the physical features of Pakistan.

Answer: According to the book, the physical features of Pakistan can be divided into four parts: (1) mountain ranges — the Himalayas, Karakoram and Hindu Kush in the north, Sulaiman and Kirthar in the west; (2) plateaus — Pothohar and the Balochistan plateau; (3) plains — the plains formed by the silt brought by the River Indus and its tributary rivers; (4) desert and coastal areas — Thal, Cholistan, Thar, Kharan and a 1050 kilometre long coast.

Question: 8. Tell the advantages of the north-eastern mountain ranges.

Answer: The advantages of the northern mountain ranges are: (1) they provide the country with natural defence and protection on one side; (2) they protect it from the cold winds coming from the North Pole; (3) in the monsoon season they cause rainfall and supply water to the rivers; (4) their snow melts in summer and gives water for agriculture; (5) most of the country's forests are in these very mountains, which are the country's wealth.

Question: 9. Name the neighbouring countries of Pakistan.

Answer: The neighbouring countries of Pakistan are: India in the east (1610 km common border), China in the north (585 km), Afghanistan in the north-west and west (Durand Line 2252 km), Iran in the south-west (about 800 km), and the Arabian Sea in the south.

Question: (i) The long border between Pakistan and Afghanistan is called ___.

Answer: The Durand Line. The common international border of Pakistan and Afghanistan is 2252 km long, which is called the Durand Line.

Question: (ii) Pakistan is divided into ___ climatic regions.

Answer: Four. Pakistan is divided into four climatic regions: mountainous, plateau, plains and coastal.

Question: (iii) The coastal areas of Pakistan are ___ and ___.

Answer: Makran and Sindh. Pakistan's coast has two parts: the Makran coast between the Iranian border and the River Hub, and the other the Sindh coast.

Question: (iv) The climate of the upper plains of Pakistan is ___.

Answer: Extreme (with severity of both heat and cold). [note: This blank is filled according to the sense of the book's description of the plains' weather; the word is not given letter-by-letter in the book.] In the plains areas there is severe heat in summer and severe cold in winter.

Question: (v) Air pollution is a ___ of the spoiling of water.

Answer: A major cause. [note: This blank is filled according to the sense of the book's pollution section; the word is not given letter-by-letter in the book.] The smoke and gases of factories and vehicles pollute the air and also spoil the water.

Question: (vi) Water is about ___ of the weight of the human body.

Answer: 70 percent. About 70 percent of the weight of the human body consists of water.

Question: (vii) The people of the northern areas of Pakistan remain busy in ___ activities in winter.

Answer: Domestic (indoor) activities. [note: This blank is filled according to the sense of the book's statement that in winter people stay confined to their homes.] In the northern areas, because of severe cold and snowfall in winter, people stay confined to their homes and remain busy in domestic activities.

Question: (viii) In the south-west of Pakistan our neighbouring country is ___.

Answer: Iran. Iran lies in the south-west of Pakistan, with which Pakistan has a common border of about 800 km.

Question: (ix) The area of Balochistan is ___ square kilometres.

Answer: 3,47,190 square kilometres. Balochistan is the largest province of Pakistan.

Question: (x) The word FATA means ___.

Answer: Federally Administered Tribal Areas. In the book FATA is called the "Federally Administered Tribal Areas".

Question: (xi) The River Hub and the Lyari flow in the ___ range.

Answer: Kirthar mountain range. To the south of the Kirthar range flow the River Hub and the Lyari stream, which finally fall into the Arabian Sea near Karachi.

Question: (xii) The largest salt mine of the world is in the province ___ of Pakistan.

Answer: Punjab (Khewra). The largest salt mine of the world, Khewra, is in Punjab.

باب پنجون: پاکستان جا وسیلا

Question: 1. Describe the importance of resources.

Answer: Resources are the real wealth and capital of a nation. They bring progress and prosperity to the country, help in the protection and defence of the country, fulfil the material needs of the citizens, promote trade and industry, provide employment to the people, and strengthen national unity. Where human and natural resources are abundant and properly used, that country progresses.

Question: 2. Name the different kinds of resources.

Answer: According to the book, resources are of two kinds: (1) human resources (Man Power) — people's ability, capacity, skill and labour; (2) natural resources — things granted by Allah, such as land/soil, forests, minerals, water, energy resources, agriculture and livestock.

Question: 3. What are the advantages of forests?

Answer: Fourteen advantages of forests are given in the book, the important ones being: (1) forests are among the important resources of the country and provide timber, building wood and fuel; (2) they help maintain the fertility of the land and stop soil erosion; (3) they keep the temperature moderate and cause rainfall; (4) they are the home of wildlife; (5) they add to the beauty of the land and become centres of tourism; (6) they clean the air and provide oxygen.

Question: 4. Name the mineral resources of Pakistan.

Answer: The important mineral resources of Pakistan are: (1) mineral oil, (2) natural gas, (3) coal, (4) iron, (5) chromite, (6) copper, (7) gypsum, (8) salt, (9) limestone, (10) marble.

Question: 5. What are the agricultural resources of Pakistan?

Answer: The agricultural resources of Pakistan are the things with which agriculture is done: fertile land and different kinds of soil, water for irrigation (rivers, canals, tube wells), seed, fertiliser, agricultural machinery, hard-working farmers and a favourable climate. Pakistan is basically an agricultural country; about 55 percent of the people are connected with agriculture and a large share of the national income comes from agriculture.

Question: 6. Which are the agricultural resources of Pakistan?

Answer: The agricultural resources of Pakistan (in the form of crops) are: (1) cash crops — cotton, sugarcane, tobacco, oilseeds; (2) food crops — wheat, rice, maize, sorghum, millet, pulses, barley; (3) vegetables and fruits — potato, onion, tomato, mango, banana, orange, apple, grapes and dry fruits.

Question: 7. Write a note on atomic (nuclear) energy.

Answer: Atomic energy is obtained from elements like uranium. In Pakistan atomic energy is used for peaceful purposes: (1) the Karachi Nuclear Power Plant (started work in 1971) and the Chashma Nuclear Power Plant (2002, 300 MW) generate electricity; (2) institutions like NIFA work for agricultural research; (3) nuclear treatment centres are working for the treatment of cancer at Karachi, Jamshoro, Lahore, Multan, Bahawalpur, Islamabad, Peshawar, Quetta and Faisalabad.

Question: 8. How are human resources and other resources dependent on each other?

Answer: Human resources and other resources depend on each other: natural resources (land, forests, minerals, water) lie useless in their place until man benefits from them through his labour, knowledge and skill; and man needs other resources (food, clothes, housing, energy) to live. Therefore, for the progress of the country, the joint use of both kinds of resources is necessary.

Question: 9. Write a note on moderation in life.

Answer: Moderation in life means that a person lives within his available resources (stretches his feet according to his blanket). Moderation (the middle path) is a reasonable and balanced attitude in every matter of life — economic, social and political. It brings peace and prosperity to society, while extremism causes evils. Islam teaches moderation in every sphere of life.

Question: (i) The people who are busy in different works are called ___.

Answer: Human resources (Man Power). The ability, capacity and skill of the people who are busy in different professions and employments are called human resources.

Question: (ii) The soil formed from the flood layers of soil and silt is called ___.

Answer: The plains soil of the River Indus (river-borne soil). The river-borne soil was formed by the collection of the soil and silt flowing along with the River Indus.

Question: (iii) Mountain forests are found in ___.

Answer: The northern and western mountain areas. Mountain forests are found in the northern and western mountain areas, such as Swat, Dir, Chitral, Abbottabad and Murree.

Question: (iv) The place in Pakistan where natural gas was found for the first time is called ___.

Answer: Sui (Balochistan). In Pakistan natural gas was first found in 1952 at Sui in Balochistan.

Question: (v) Moderation in life means ___.

Answer: The middle path. Moderation in life means the middle path — that is, living within one's available resources and adopting a balanced attitude in every matter.

باب چھون: پاکستان صنعتي ترقي

Question: 1. What is meant by industry?

Answer: The work or establishment of producing goods in factories through machines is called industry. In the broad sense, industry means making such goods as fulfil people's needs and bring benefit. In the early period industry was simple and based on hand work; now modern industry is based on machines and large-scale production.

Question: 2. Define national progress.

Answer: Progress in the economic and social sectors is called national progress. Discovering resources and using them for the maximum benefit of the people is called national progress. National progress reflects the strength and stability of human and natural resources, through which life becomes easy and better.

Question: 3. What is the importance of industry in national progress?

Answer: For the progress of any country, after agriculture and the discovery of natural resources, industry is an essential thing. Through industry: (1) the country's economic progress takes place; (2) the price of goods made from raw material increases; (3) people get employment; (4) people get comforts; (5) the country's economy becomes strong and political stability is helped; (6) the country becomes self-sufficient and the standard of living rises.

Question: 4. Write a note on the cotton textile and sugar industry in Pakistan.

Answer: Cotton textile industry: it is the backbone of Pakistan's economy. Pakistan has become self-sufficient in the cotton textile industry and earns billions of rupees of foreign exchange every year. At the time of independence there were only three cotton textile mills in the country; now about 500 mills are working. Important centres: Faisalabad, Lahore, Multan, Karachi and Hyderabad. Sugar industry: it is one of the large industries of the country. In 1947 Pakistan had only one sugar mill; now there are 78 sugar mills in the country (40 in Punjab, 32 in Sindh, 6 in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa) with a production capacity of 5 million tons. Pakistan is self-sufficient in sugar production.

Question: 5. How do the means of transport help in national progress?

Answer: The means of transport help national progress in this way: (1) they promote the country's agriculture and industry; (2) they promote national and international trade; (3) they join the people of the different regions of the country with one another and strengthen national unity; (4) they strengthen the country's defence; (5) in case of natural calamities (flood, earthquake) they quickly deliver relief; (6) they carry raw material to factories and finished goods to markets.

Question: 6. Which famous cities are located on the National Highway from Karachi to Peshawar?

Answer: The National Highway (N-5) is the oldest and most important highway of Pakistan, with a length of 1735 km. It starts from Karachi and goes to Peshawar. The famous cities located on it are: Hyderabad, Sukkur, Bahawalpur, Multan, Lahore, Gujranwala, Rawalpindi and Peshawar. The portion of this highway between Lahore and Peshawar is called the G.T. Road (Grand Trunk Road).

Question: 7. What are the uses of e-commerce?

Answer: E-commerce means doing trade through computer and internet. Its uses are: (1) trade transactions take place very quickly; (2) a trader can contact traders in any part of the world and tell them the details, prices and quantities of his goods; (3) a buyer can buy things sitting at home; (4) the foundations of e-commerce are getting strong in Pakistan and the facility of home delivery exists in Karachi, Lahore, Islamabad, Peshawar and other cities.

Question: 8. What steps should be taken for the promotion of industrial progress in Pakistan?

Answer: According to the book, these steps should be taken for the promotion of industrial progress: (1) the law-and-order situation in the country should be improved so that investors invest without any fear; (2) the rules and regulations for trade should be made easy; (3) during practical training a sense of the dignity of labour should be created; (4) a strict system of quality control should be established; (5) the standard of education in marketing and business administration should be improved; (6) industrial policies should be completely clear, transparent and plain; (7) the government should give concessions in taxes to industrialists; (8) the conditions of workers should be improved and their wages increased.

Question: (i) For economic progress, ___ in industry is necessary.

Answer: Investment. [note: This blank is filled according to the sense of the book's industrial progress section; the word is not given letter-by-letter in the book.] For economic progress, investment in industry is necessary.

Question: (ii) In the production of sugar Pakistan is ___.

Answer: Self-sufficient. Pakistan is self-sufficient in the production of sugar and is also earning valuable foreign exchange from the export of sugar.

Question: (iii) Sialkot is famous for ___ goods.

Answer: Sports goods. Sialkot is famous for sports goods — Pakistani sports goods, such as cricket bats, hockey and football, are famous all over the world.

Question: (iv) The negative attitude of ___ associations (___ unions) is a problem for our industry.

Answer: Labour, trade. The negative attitude of labour associations (trade unions) is a problem for our industry.

Question: (v) The three means of transport in Pakistan are ___, ___ and ___.

Answer: Land (road and railway), sea and air. The three means of transport in Pakistan are: land (road and railway), sea and air.

Question: (vi) Carpet weaving is a ___ industry of Pakistan.

Answer: Cottage (small). Carpet weaving is one of the cottage and small industries of Pakistan, which is also earning valuable foreign exchange.

Question: (vii) ___ and ___ are the important exports of Pakistan.

Answer: Cotton and cotton cloth (rice, sugar, carpets and fish are also included). Cotton and cotton cloth are the important exports of Pakistan.

باب ستون: پاڪستان جي آبادي

Question: 1. Describe the composition and balance of Pakistan's population.

Answer: According to the 1998 census, the total population of Pakistan was 132,352,279 and the density of population was 166 persons per square kilometre. Province-wise: Punjab 73,621,290 (55.63%), Sindh 30,439,893 (23%), Khyber Pakhtunkhwa 17,743,645 (14.41%), Balochistan 6,565,885 (4.96%), FATA 3,176,331 (2.40%), Islamabad 805,235 (0.61%). 67.5% of the population lives in villages and 32.5% in cities. Language-wise: Punjabi 44.15%, Pashto 15.42%, Sindhi 14.12%, Saraiki 10.53%, Urdu 7.57%, Balochi 3.55%, others 4.66%.

Question: 2. What is the state of literacy in Pakistan?

Answer: The state of literacy in Pakistan is not encouraging. In 1951 the literacy rate was 13.2%, which rose to 45% in 1998 (men 61%, women 36%). Literacy is a great blessing, and it is a danger bell for the country's progress that still more than half the people are illiterate. The government is setting up new institutions to increase literacy and is running programmes like "Education for All".

Question: 3. How do population growth and migration affect national progress?

Answer: Population growth and migration from villages to cities affect national progress in this way: (1) pressure on resources increases and per-person resources decrease; (2) shortage of housing, water, electricity, transport and employment arises in cities; (3) unemployment increases; (4) health and education facilities become insufficient; (5) on the other hand, if the population is given education and skills, it can become a human resource and help progress.

Question: 4. What are the causes of population growth in Pakistan?

Answer: According to the book, the causes of population growth in Pakistan are: (1) the social factor — Pakistan is an Islamic country; many people believe that children are a blessing given by Allah and a large family is considered strength; (2) refusal of family planning — some religious leaders consider family planning a sin; (3) lack of education — especially the literacy rate among women is low; (4) early marriage — early marriage causes an increase in the birth of children; (5) poverty — the birth rate is higher in poor families; (6) the desire for a son — the desire for the birth of a son also causes more children to be born.

Question: 5. How can balance be maintained between the growing population and the strength of resources?

Answer: Balance between the growing population and resources can be maintained in this way: (1) the growth rate of the population should be reduced; (2) the production of resources should be increased — through progress in agriculture, industry and trade; (3) education and training should be spread so that people become productive; (4) new resources should be found, such as new reserves of minerals and oil; (5) uninhabited land should be settled and barren land brought under cultivation.

Question: 6. Describe the effects of population growth on health and education.

Answer: Effect on health: with population growth, health facilities become insufficient — doctors, hospitals and medicines fall short, the death rate of mothers and children rises (in Pakistan the death rate of children under five years is 102 per thousand) and malnutrition increases. Effect on education: schools, teachers and books fall short, the number of children in classes increases, the literacy rate stays low and the standard of education falls.

Question: (i) The first census after the creation of Pakistan took place in ___.

Answer: 1951. The first census after the creation of Pakistan took place in 1951.

Question: (ii) The density of population in Sindh is ___ persons per square kilometre.

Answer: 218 persons. The density of population in Sindh is 218 persons per square kilometre.

Question: (iii) According to the 1998 census, the total population of Karachi is ___.

Answer: About ten million (9,339,023). According to the 1998 census the population of Karachi was 9,339,023, which is about ten million.

Question: (iv) The majority of the population of Pakistan lives in ___.

Answer: Villages (rural areas). The majority of Pakistan's population (67.5%) lives in villages.

Question: (v) The literacy rate of women in Pakistan is ___.

Answer: 36 percent. According to the 1998 census, the literacy rate of women in Pakistan is 36 percent (men 61 percent).

Question: (vi) The most important problem of Pakistan is ___.

Answer: Population growth (overpopulation). The most important problem of Pakistan is population growth, which causes pressure on resources, unemployment and shortage of health and education facilities.

Question: (vii) ___ is the language which is spoken and understood in all the regions of Pakistan.

Answer: Urdu. Urdu is the language which is spoken and understood in all the regions of Pakistan and is the language of communication for the people of the whole country.

باب اٺون: پاڪستان جي ثقافت

Question: 1. Describe the characteristics of culture.

Answer: According to the book, the characteristics of culture are: (1) every culture has its own particular temperament, which distinguishes it from other cultures; (2) culture is a force (a motive) which influences others; (3) culture can change through meeting and contact with other cultures; (4) the identity and recognition of any culture lie in its own individuality; (5) every culture holds certain values and absorbs them within itself.

Question: 2. Why is a language an important part of culture?

Answer: Language is the most important part of culture, because language is the most effective means of expressing thoughts, feelings and emotions. A nation is recognised through its language, and every nation holds its language dear. The national language joins the people living in different regions with one another and creates national unity and solidarity.

Question: 3. Write a note on the languages of Pakistan.

Answer: More than 30 languages are spoken in Pakistan. The major provincial languages are: Urdu (the national language), Sindhi, Punjabi, Pashto, Balochi and Saraiki. Urdu is the national language of Pakistan and in the Constitution of 1973 it was declared the official language. Sindhi is one of the oldest languages of South Asia and is the official language of Sindh. Punjabi is the language of Punjab, whose great Sufi poets are Baba Farid, Shah Hussain, Sultan Bahu and Bulleh Shah. Pashto is the language of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, whose famous poets are Rahman Baba and Khushhal Khan Khattak. Balochi is the language of Balochistan, whose famous writers are Jam Durrak and Mast Tawakli. Besides these, Saraiki, Hindko, Brahui, Kashmiri, Shina and other languages are also spoken.

Question: 4. Describe the importance of Urdu as the national language.

Answer: The importance of Urdu is as follows: (1) Urdu is the national language of Pakistan and the means of communication — it is spoken and understood in all four provinces; (2) it is a means of national unity and solidarity and joins the people of the different provinces with one another; (3) at the time of the creation of Pakistan, the founder of Pakistan, Quaid-e-Azam, announced in clear words that the national language of Pakistan would be Urdu; (4) Urdu is a language with a large treasure of learning and literature, with poetry, prose, drama and films; (5) Urdu has enriched itself by taking words from the languages of all the regions of Pakistan.

Question: 5. What are the common cultural manifestations in national life?

Answer: The common cultural manifestations in national life are: (1) the common national language Urdu; (2) Islamic beliefs and values; (3) social life — simplicity, belief in old traditions, the joint family system, respect for elders; (4) food — the simple diet of most people (wheat bread, meat, pulses, vegetables) and hospitality; (5) recreation — cricket, hockey, squash, kabaddi and wrestling; (6) religious festivals — Eid-ul-Fitr, Eid-ul-Azha, Eid Milad-un-Nabi; (7) the one message of brotherhood and love given by the Sufis in different languages; (8) the means of communication (radio, TV, newspapers) and the education system.

Question: 6. Write a note on the arts and artists of Pakistan.

Answer: There are several fields of art and literature in Pakistan: (1) painting, calligraphy, architecture and music — these arts spread widely in South Asia during the Muslim period of rule; (2) handicrafts — Sindhi ajrak, fragrant shawls, Kashmiri shawls, Balochi embroidery and Punjab's clay pots are famous; (3) fairs and festivals — Eids, Milad, urs and fairs; (4) literature — the great poets and writers of Urdu, Sindhi, Punjabi, Pashto and Balochi literature, such as Shah Abdul Latif Bhitai, Baba Farid, Rahman Baba and Jam Durrak. These arts are the beauty and identity of Pakistan's culture.

Question: 7. Describe the importance of festivals for our culture.

Answer: Festivals are important for our culture because: (1) they bring joy and happiness to the people; (2) people meet one another, give gifts and share in one another's grief and joy; (3) religious festivals (Eid-ul-Fitr, Eid-ul-Azha, Eid Milad-un-Nabi) strengthen the faith and unity of Muslims; (4) non-Muslim Pakistanis also celebrate their festivals (Christmas, Diwali, Holi, Baisakhi) and Muslims share in their joys; (5) fairs and urs (such as the Urs of Data Ganj Bakhsh and the Urs of Shah Abdul Latif Bhitai) are signs of our common cultural heritage.

Question: (i) The national language of Pakistan is ___.

Answer: Urdu. The national language of Pakistan is Urdu.

Question: (ii) The culture of Pakistan is a ___ culture.

Answer: Common (shared). [note: This blank is filled according to the sense of the book's statement about "common cultural manifestations".] The culture of Pakistan is a common culture, in which the good qualities of all the regions and languages are included.

Question: (iii) The national dress of Pakistan is ___ and ___.

Answer: Shalwar and qameez. The national dress of Pakistan is shalwar and qameez — men generally wear shalwar qameez and the common dress of women is also shalwar qameez and dupatta.

Question: (iv) In Pakistan ___ languages are spoken.

Answer: More than 30. In Pakistan more than 30 languages are spoken.

Question: (v) In Balochistan two languages ___ and ___ are spoken.

Answer: Balochi and Brahui. In Balochistan two languages, Balochi and Brahui, are spoken (Pashto is also spoken).

Question: (vi) The two great poets of the Balochi language are ___ and ___.

Answer: Jam Durrak and Mast Tawakli. The two great poets of the Balochi language are Jam Durrak and Mast Tawakli.

Question: (vii) Shah Hussain is a great ___ poet.

Answer: Punjabi. Shah Hussain is a great Punjabi Sufi poet.

Question: (viii) After independence the Sindhi language made immense progress in ___ and ___.

Answer: Prose and poetry. After independence the Sindhi language made immense progress in prose and poetry.

Question: (ix) Most of the people of Pakistan eat ___ food.

Answer: Simple. Most of the people of Pakistan eat simple food — wheat bread, meat, pulses and vegetables.

Question: (x) The one message of ___ and ___ is what our Sufis gave in different languages.

Answer: Brotherhood and love. The one message of brotherhood and love is what our Sufis gave in different languages.

Question: (xi) Eid-ul-Fitr is celebrated in the month of ___.

Answer: Shawwal. Eid-ul-Fitr is celebrated in the month of Shawwal (on 1 Shawwal).

Question: (xii) Christians celebrate ___ on ___.

Answer: Christmas on 25 December. Christians celebrate Christmas on 25 December.

باب نائون: پاکستان  تعلیم

Question: 1. Describe the importance of education in the progress of a country.

Answer: Without education real progress is not possible. Through education: (1) people are helped to use their natural abilities; (2) the outlook and thinking of the nation change; (3) national unity and the spirit of patriotism grow; (4) citizens become aware of their rights and duties; (5) people's creative abilities are promoted; (6) economic progress takes place and the standard of living rises; (7) the protection and use of natural resources become possible; (8) for the development of human resources, education is the best investment.

Question: 2. Throw light on the important aspects of education stated in the National Education Policy (1998 to 2010).

Answer: The important aspects of the National Education Policy 1998 to 2010 are: (1) every citizen has the right to get the facility of education; (2) all resources will be used to end illiteracy and by 2010 the enrolment rate of children of the early age group (5-9 years) will be raised to 100%; (3) the law of compulsory primary education will be passed and enforced by 2004-05; (4) technical education will be promoted and a programme of teachers' training will be started; (5) the national budget for education will be raised from 2.2% to 4%; (6) religious seminaries will be included in the education system.

Question: 3. Describe the social and cultural importance of education.

Answer: The social and cultural importance of education is: (1) political aspect — education is the first condition for the success of democracy; educated people express their opinion and hold their political leaders accountable; (2) social and cultural aspect — through education social customs and cultural values become strong; people become aware of their civilisation and culture; (3) economic aspect — through education people's income and standard of living increase; educated people play a better role in industry, trade and services.

Question: 4. What kind of structure does formal education have in Pakistan?

Answer: The levels of the structure of formal education in Pakistan are: (1) primary — from class 1 to class 5, duration 5 years; (2) middle — from class 6 to class 8, duration 3 years; (3) secondary — classes 9 and 10, duration 2 years; (4) higher secondary — classes 11 and 12, duration 2 years; (5) degree — B.A., B.Sc. etc., duration 2 years; (6) university — up to M.A., M.Sc., M.Phil. and Ph.D.

Question: 5. What are the important components of the secondary curriculum of education?

Answer: The important components of the secondary curriculum are: (1) compulsory subjects — Urdu, English, Islamiat, Pakistan Studies; (2) science group subjects — Physics, Chemistry, Biology and Mathematics; (3) commerce group subjects; (4) arts group subjects — History, Geography, Economics and Civics; (5) optional subjects. At the secondary level students have to choose one group from science, commerce or arts.

Question: 6. Write a note on teacher training.

Answer: Teacher training is an important part of the education system: (1) P.T.C. (one year of training) for primary teachers; (2) C.T. (one year of training) for middle teachers; (3) B.Ed. (one year of training) and M.Ed. (one more year of training) for secondary teachers; (4) Allama Iqbal Open University gives teacher training through its distance system. In the National Education Policy 1998 to 2010 the courses of teacher training have been modernised, but there are still several problems, such as inexperienced teachers and lack of financial resources for training.

Question: 7. Describe the importance of technical and professional education in Pakistan.

Answer: The importance of technical and professional education is: (1) in the modern age, technical experts are needed for industrial progress; (2) the government has opened polytechnic institutions and technical training centres in the country, such as the Ghulam Ishaq Khan Institute at Topi (Khyber Pakhtunkhwa); (3) through technical education a student can gain skill in one profession and get employment; (4) professional education includes medicine, engineering, commerce, agriculture and law; (5) through technical and professional education the country's economy becomes strong and unemployment decreases.

Question: 8. What are the important problems in the field of education in Pakistan?

Answer: According to the book, the important problems in the field of education in Pakistan are: (1) the role of landlords — the biggest obstacle in the way of poor children's education; (2) dropout — about 85% of children get admitted to primary schools but only 56% complete the fifth year; (3) absence of teachers; (4) heavy fees of private educational institutions; (5) lack of equipment and facilities in schools — many schools do not even have a boundary wall, clean water and furniture; (6) non-availability of textbooks; (7) lack of hostel accommodation for students; (8) political interference.

Question: 9. What are the objectives of information technology (I.T.) in the field of education in Pakistan?

Answer: The objectives of I.T. in the field of education are: (1) to modernise Pakistan's education system at every level through the use of

I.T.; (2) to get access to research and modern data through the internet; (3) to popularise I.T. among children of every age and prepare them for the coming decade; (4) to use the computer in different roles to make teaching effective in the classroom; (5) to use means of communication (e-mail etc.) for teachers' training and other educational activities.

Question: (i) Without ___ real progress is not possible.

Answer: Education. Without education real progress is not possible.

Question: (ii) The first educational conference in Pakistan was held in ___.

Answer: 1947. The first educational conference in Pakistan was held in 1947.

Question: (iii) A ___ of compulsory primary education came into force.

Answer: Law (Act). [note: The book's 1998-2010 policy mentions the law of compulsory primary education which was to be enforced by 2004-05.] A law of compulsory primary education came into force.

Question: (iv) Formal education in Pakistan begins from ___.

Answer: Primary (class one). Formal education in Pakistan begins from primary (class one).

Question: (v) Professional education includes education in ___, ___, ___ and ___.

Answer: Engineering, medicine, commerce and agriculture. Professional education includes education in engineering, medicine, commerce and agriculture.

Question: (vi) In Sindh the responsibility of preparing textbooks has been entrusted to ___.

Answer: The Sindh Textbook Board. In Sindh the responsibility of preparing textbooks has been entrusted to the Sindh Textbook Board.

باب ڈھون: پاکستان — هک فلاحي مملکت

Question: 1. What is meant by a welfare state?

Answer: A welfare state is a state which looks after the basic needs of its citizens and makes them able to live a life of peace and calm. The objectives of such a state are: ending ignorance and illiteracy, poverty and destitution, and injustice from society; giving the citizens such opportunities and environment in which all citizens can develop their natural abilities and get opportunities. In a welfare state the basic needs of the citizens are fulfilled and their welfare is the first responsibility of the state.

Question: 2. Describe the duties of a welfare state.

Answer: The duties of a welfare state are: (1) protection of the life, property and honour of the citizens; (2) protection of the basic rights of the citizens and giving them justice; (3) giving facilities of education, health, employment and housing; (4) helping the poor, orphans, widows and the disabled; (5) protecting the borders of the country and maintaining law and order; (6) fair distribution of resources; (7) making plans for the welfare of the citizens and implementing them.

Question: 3. What is the concept of an Islamic welfare state?

Answer: The concept of an Islamic welfare state is: (1) in Islam supreme authority lies with Allah Almighty and the state protects the life, property and honour of its citizens; (2) there is justice for all people without discrimination and all are equal in the eyes of the law; (3) in an Islamic welfare state the ruler is bound by the basic symbols and commands of Islam and fears Allah; (4) the rulers of an Islamic welfare state are servants of the people and always think about the welfare of the people;

(5) the rulers live the lifestyle of an ordinary person and are answerable to the people; (6) the concept of an Islamic welfare state is that it should establish equality.

Question: 4. What are the national objectives of Pakistan?

Answer: The national objectives of Pakistan are: (1) establishment of an Islamic society — establishing an Islamic society according to Islamic teachings and the principles of democracy; (2) struggle against exploitation — struggle to end poverty, ignorance and illiteracy; (3) protection of the state — keeping the country safe from internal and external dangers; (4) self-sufficiency — becoming self-sufficient economically; (5) unity and solidarity with Muslim countries; (6) peaceful coexistence — promotion of international peace; (7) struggle for the establishment of a welfare state.

Question: 5. Why is self-sufficiency in food necessary?

Answer: Self-sufficiency in food is necessary because: (1) food is a basic need of the people and without proper food the health of the people deteriorates; (2) if the health of the people is not good, their performance will decrease and it will affect the progress of the country; (3) shortage of food increases inflation; (4) the majority of Pakistan's population is connected with agriculture and a large part of the national income comes from agriculture; (5) through self-sufficiency in food the country becomes free from external pressure and national honour increases.

Question: 6. Why is peace necessary in the whole world?

Answer: Peace is necessary in the whole world because: (1) the present world has become a global village — because of science and technology nations have come closer to one another; (2) the problems of one country affect other countries; (3) without peace progress and prosperity are not possible; (4) wars cause great loss of human lives, property and resources;

(5) Pakistan is a peace-loving country and it supports the efforts of the United Nations; (6) Islam also teaches peace, tolerance and brotherhood.

Question: 7. What is the role of the individual in a welfare state?

Answer: The role of the individual in a welfare state is: (1) it is the duty of every person to remain loyal to the state and be ready to sacrifice when needed; (2) it is the duty of every citizen to respect the rights of fellow citizens and protect their life, property and honour; (3) it is the duty of the individual not to misuse public utilities (such as electricity, gas, water, public parks, transport); (4) a citizen should take part in welfare activities individually or collectively; (5) it is the duty of citizens to keep the environment clean; (6) it is the duty of all citizens to pay taxes regularly and obey the law of the country; (7) it is the duty of every citizen to get education and make better use of national resources.

Question: 8. What steps has the government taken for mass education?

Answer: For mass education the government has taken these steps: (1) reforms in the education sector (E.S.R.) — introducing a system which fulfils the ideals and needs of Pakistan; (2) including Pakistan Studies and Islamiat in the curriculum; (3) discouraging the trend of commercialisation in education; (4) improving the service conditions of teachers; (5) a programme of giving scholarships to intelligent and poor students under Pakistan Bait-ul-Mal; (6) starting a literacy campaign on radio and TV; (7) "Education for All" programme — free books and facilities in non-formal educational institutions; (8) establishment of the Education Foundation.

Question: 9. Write a note on a just and equal society.

Answer: A just and equal society is a society in which all individuals get equal rights and equal opportunities. In such a society: (1) no person remains deprived of his rights; (2) everyone gets facilities of education, health and employment; (3) the law is equal for all and everyone can get justice; (4) people have freedom of expression and liberty; (5) there is a spirit of love, brotherhood and cooperation and society becomes strong. The government of Pakistan is trying its best to make its society equal and just, but financial and economic problems are a big obstacle in it.

Question: 10. Why is continuous constructive effort necessary in Pakistan?

Answer: Continuous constructive effort is necessary in Pakistan because: (1) awareness of national objectives is maintained only through continuous effort; (2) dignity of labour — the nation has to be taught the value of hard work; (3) the standard of education has to be raised; (4) guidance and encouragement — people have to be led on the path of progress; (5) welfare programmes have to be advanced. Since 1947 the different sectors of Pakistan's economy have progressed a lot, but the need of the time is that Pakistan should be made a welfare state as soon as possible.

Question: (i) The government is trying that in Pakistan a ___ society is established.

Answer: Equal and just. The government is trying that in Pakistan an equal and just society is established.

Question: (ii) The ___ population of Pakistan is connected with agriculture.

Answer: Majority. The majority population of Pakistan is connected with agriculture.

Question: (iii) Pakistan is self-sufficient in the production of ___ and ___.

Answer: Wheat and rice. Pakistan is self-sufficient in the production of wheat and rice (cotton, sugar and fertiliser are also included).

Question: (iv) In Islam supreme authority lies with ___.

Answer: Allah Almighty. In Islam supreme authority lies with Allah Almighty.

Question: (v) Economic progress leads towards ___.

Answer: Prosperity. [note: This blank is filled according to the sense of the book's discussion of the welfare state.] Economic progress leads towards prosperity.

باب يارهون: پاڪستان  شهري زندگي

Question: 1. Describe the rights and duties of a citizen.

Answer: The rights of a citizen are: (1) personal liberty — every person has the right to freedom in his action and thought, provided it does not harm others; (2) freedom of expression and religion — every citizen has freedom to express his opinion and follow his religion; (3) education and health — education is a basic need and every citizen should get its facility; (4) protection and equality of the law. The duties of a citizen are: (1) regard for the rights of others — not violating others' rights while using one's own rights; (2) obedience to the law and loyalty to the country; (3) giving priority to national interests over personal interests; (4) being ready for the defence of the country.

Question: 2. What are your duties as a student?

Answer: As students our duties are: (1) the first duty is to get education and complete our education; (2) to take part in national services (such as blood donation, civil defence) at election time or during holidays; (3) to maintain discipline in educational institutions; (4) to collect aid for disaster victims and help them; (5) to respect teachers and parents and obey the rules of the school.

Question: 3. What is the meaning of corruption? What effects does it have on society?

Answer: Corruption means the misuse of powers for personal benefit by violating the law — such as taking bribes, cheating in examinations, nepotism. Its effects on society are: (1) the government does not get the money needed for building schools, hospitals and roads; (2) roads become a cause of more accidents; (3) people have to pay higher prices for things;

(4) students pass examinations by cheating, which destroys their ability; (5) lawlessness increases; (6) society suffers moral and social harm. The government has set up institutions like the National Accountability Bureau (NAB), the Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) and the Anti-Corruption Department to fight corruption.

Question: (i) In democracy there is freedom of ___.

Answer: Opinion (expression of opinion). In democracy there is freedom of opinion.

Question: (ii) Ordinary citizens elect their representatives through their ___.

Answer: Votes. Ordinary citizens elect their representatives through their votes.

Question: (iii) National interests should be given ___ over personal interests.

Answer: Priority. National interests should be given priority over personal interests.

Question: Practical work (i): Make a chart of the rights of a citizen.

Answer: A chart of the rights of a citizen can be made like this: rights — personal liberty, freedom of expression, freedom of religion, right to education, right to health, equal protection of the law, right to vote, right to property, right to employment. Students should make the chart in class, write these rights and write a short meaning of each right in front of it.

Question: Practical work (ii): Complete the table about corruption — types, causes, effects, measures for prevention, and what you can do about it.

Answer: Table on corruption: types — bribery, nepotism, cheating in examinations, misuse of government funds; causes — greed, weak enforcement of the law, absence of punishment, lack of moral training; effects — obstacle in development works, inflation, lawlessness, moral ruin; measures for prevention — institutions like NAB, FIA and the Anti-Corruption Department, strict punishments, transparency; what you can do — neither give nor take bribes, do not cheat, raise your voice against corruption, obey the law.

باب پارهون: انساني حقن جو تحفظ

Question: 1. Write the basic characteristics of human rights in your own words.

Answer: The basic characteristics of human rights are: (1) human rights come with the birth of a human being — they are natural; (2) they are equal for all human beings, without any distinction (race, colour, sex, religion, nationality); (3) they cannot be taken away from anyone; (4) they include life, liberty, security, equality, education, health, freedom of expression and freedom of religion; (5) they protect the honour and dignity of human beings.

Question: 2. Discuss in detail the rights and duties of the citizens of Pakistan.

Answer: Under the Constitution of 1973, the rights of the citizens of Pakistan are: equality and equal protection of the law, freedom of expression and assembly, freedom of religion, right to education, right to property, right to employment and security. The duties of citizens are: obedience to the law, respect for the rights of others, correct use of the vote, defence of the country, giving priority to national interests, paying taxes and protecting public property. Rights and duties are linked with each other — the use of rights is possible only through fulfilling duties.

Question: 3. Critically examine the state of human rights in Pakistan and give suggestions for their protection.

Answer: Critical review: The Constitution of Pakistan guarantees the rights of all citizens without any distinction, and Pakistan is responsible for upholding international human rights standards, but in practice there are still challenges — because of lack of literacy, poverty, corruption and weak enforcement of the law, violations of rights take place. Suggestions: (1) increase public awareness about human rights; (2) strengthen institutions like the Ministry of Human Rights, the Human Rights Cell (HRC) of the Supreme Court and the Ombudsman; (3) spread education; (4) strict enforcement of the law and quick investigation of violations; (5) special protection of the rights of women, children and the disabled.

Question: 4. Describe the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights 1948.

Answer: The General Assembly of the United Nations adopted the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) on 10 December 1948, which has 30 articles. The Declaration explains human rights, such as: the right to equality, life, liberty and security; freedom from slavery and torture; equality before the law; right to a fair trial; freedom of movement; right to asylum; right to nationality and marriage; freedom of property, belief and expression; right to assembly and participation in government; social security, work, rest, adequate standard of living, education (Article 26) and participation in cultural life. The purpose of the Declaration is to maintain peace in the world and the welfare of human beings.

Question: Identify and classify the rights and duties in the following statements.

Answer: Right: equality of all citizens in the eyes of the law; freedom of expression; liberty and security; protection of property. Duty: obeying the law; using the vote in elections; respecting difference of opinion; cleanliness of the neighbourhood; defence of the country. (Using the vote is both a right and a duty, but in the book's activity it is listed as a civic duty.)

Question: (i) ___ are the rights which are present by inheritance in every person because of being a human being.

Answer: Human rights. Human rights are the rights which are present by inheritance in every person because of being a human being.

Question: (ii) The General Assembly adopted the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) on ___.

Answer: 10 December 1948. The General Assembly adopted the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights on 10 December 1948.

Question: (iii) In Article ___ of the United Nations Human Rights Declaration, emphasis is laid on the right to education.

Answer: 26. In Article 26 of the United Nations Human Rights Declaration, emphasis is laid on the right to education.

Question: Research: investigate a case of violation of human rights and set up a research on the role of the state in protecting the rights of citizens.

Answer: Students should select the news of one recent case of violation of human rights (from a newspaper, TV or the internet), investigate its facts, the right of the affected person and the action taken on it. Then they should write a short research on the role of the state in protecting the rights of citizens — including the guarantee of the Constitution, the Ministry of Human Rights, the HRC of the Supreme Court and the role of the Ombudsman.

Question: Cooperation with others: discuss in groups the rights of citizens under the 1973 Constitution and the rights given to citizens under the 1948 Declaration.

Answer: Students should divide into two groups; one group should prepare a model speech on the rights of citizens under the 1973 Constitution and the other group on the rights given to citizens under the 1948 Universal Declaration, and present them in class. The purpose of the discussion is to understand the similarities and differences between the two — the Constitution is the country's legal guarantee and the Declaration is international principles.

باب تيرهون: شهرين جي حقن جو تحفظ  ادارن جو ڪردار

Question: 1. Throw light on the role of the Ombudsman in redressing public complaints.

Answer: The Ombudsman plays this role in redressing public complaints: (1) the institution of the Ombudsman is generally considered the "court of the poor"; (2) the Ombudsman is a government official appointed by the government or the parliament and attends to administrative complaints; (3) any affected person can lodge his complaint through post, fax, e-mail or the Ombudsman's website; (4) the Ombudsman receives the complaint, starts investigation on it and gives instructions to the concerned institution; (5) the aim of the Ombudsman is to end administrative injustice and give quick justice to the citizens.

Question: 2. (a) What is the role of the Ombudsman in Pakistan?

Answer: The role of the Ombudsman in Pakistan is: hearing and investigating citizens' complaints against administrative injustice of government institutions; providing several ways of lodging a complaint (post, fax, e-mail, website); issuing instructions to the concerned institutions; and promoting transparency and accountability in administrative matters. The Ombudsman has powers like a civil court — he can summon witnesses, demand documents and punish contempt of his decision (powers like a High Court).

Question: 3. (b) What is the role of the Human Rights Cell (HRC) established by the Supreme Court?

Answer: The Human Rights Cell (HRC) has been established in the Supreme Court. Its role is: (1) to take action on applications received from the public about violations of human rights; (2) to provide quick and free relief to the public from hardship; (3) to receive applications from the public through post and correspond on them; (4) to call for a report about the text or follow-up of complaints; (5) to provide immediate justice to the public administratively; (6) to take action on the complaints of Pakistanis living abroad as well.

Question: 4. (c) What are the duties of the Ministry of Human Rights in Pakistan?

Answer: The duties of the Ministry of Human Rights in Pakistan are: (1) to protect the situation of human rights and the rights of other people in the country, and to review the implementation of policies and ongoing measures; (2) to create coordination in the activities of ministries, divisions and provincial governments in the matter of human rights and provide facilities in related activities; (3) to receive information and documents from ministries, divisions and provincial governments on complaints and allegations about violations of human rights; (4) to refer investigation into incidents of violations of human rights, the rights of disabled persons and the rights of children; (5) to work on Pakistan's representation regarding human rights, complaint matters and their disposal or defence.

Question: 5. Identify the different ways of harassment in your area and write a detailed note on two of them.

Answer: The ways of harassment are: (1) harassment at the workplace — harassing women at the workplace; (2) verbal harassment — harassing through abuses, threats and insulting talk; (3) physical harassment — beating or causing physical pain; (4) psychological harassment — frightening, causing fear and putting pressure. Detail: (a) harassment at the workplace — the Parliament of Pakistan passed the Protection Against Harassment of Women at the Workplace Act in 2010, whose aim is to give women a safe environment at the workplace; (b) verbal harassment — insulting talk and threats injure a person's honour and their legal prevention is necessary.

Question: (i) The institution of the Ombudsman is generally understood like a ___.

Answer: Court of the poor. The institution of the Ombudsman is generally understood like a court of the poor.

Question: (ii) The Ombudsman has, with a few changes, the same powers as a ___ Court.

Answer: High. The Ombudsman has, with a few changes, the same powers as a High Court, such as the power to punish contempt of his decision.

Question: (iii) The Parliament of Pakistan passed the Act for protection against harassment of women at employment and workplaces in ___.

Answer: 2010. The Parliament of Pakistan passed the Act for protection against harassment of women at employment and workplaces in 2010.

Question: Set up a mock court: investigate the latest cases of human rights violations in Pakistan.

Answer: Students should set up a mock court in class — one student becomes the judge, some become lawyers and some become witnesses. Select the news of a recent case of violation of human rights, investigate its facts, hear the statements of witnesses and decide which right was violated and what its remedy should be. The purpose is to understand the process of justice practically.

Question: Cooperate with others: criticise and discuss the duties and powers of the Ombudsman in groups and present it before the class.

Answer: Students should divide into groups and discuss the duties and powers of the Ombudsman — one group should argue for the benefits of the Ombudsman (quick and cheap justice, court of the poor) and the other group on its limits (some matters are outside its powers, such as matters of courts and the armed forces). Then each group should present its conclusions before the class.