Unit 4: Unforgettable Moments of My Life

Unit 4: Unforgettable Moments of My Life — Book pages 35 to 44

B) Reading and Critical Thinking

What happened to the grandfather's farmhouse?

The farmhouse was in a poor condition. There was nothing but burnt-yellow grass with bushes everywhere. The tall dense trees had wilted. This happened because the gardener who used to take care of the garden had passed away due to illness, and the grandparents were not able to pay as much attention as required.

How did the writer restore his grandparent's farmhouse?

The writer decided to bring the same scenery back with the help of his father, sister and brothers. His elder brothers took charge of bringing fertiliser from the market and planting new plants. His sister opted to water plants in the afternoon, and the writer had the responsibility of taking care of the nests. They started working with full energy and got everything back to the way it used to be within a month's time.

How can you restore a garden in your surroundings?

You can restore a garden by planting new plants, watering them regularly, removing bushes and weeds, and taking care of the trees and nests with the help of your family.

Unit 7: What Goes Around, Comes Around — Book pages 66 to 74

B) Reading and Critical Thinking — Fable: 'What Goes Around, Comes Around'

Why does the frog tie his foot to the mouse's foot?

The frog tied the mouse's foot to his own with a piece of thread so that he could pull the mouse along to see the wonderful underwater world, because the mouse could not swim. The frog laughed as he thought it would be good fun for him.

What happened at the end of the story?

The poor mouse was drowned, while the cruel frog frisked about down below, tied to the foot of the mouse. Just then, a hawk saw the mouse and pounced upon it. As he flew away with it, the frog was dragged out of the water too, for he was still tied to the mouse. The hawk said he wanted them both and would eat the frog first, for he liked frog meat even better than mouse meat. In a few moments, the hawk had a good supper, and there was nothing left of either the selfish frog or the poor mouse.

Write a summary of the fable you have just read.

A mouse who lived on land met a frog who lived in water. The frog tied the mouse's foot to his own with a thread to show him the underwater world. The frog jumped into the pond and swam happily, but the poor mouse drowned. A hawk pounced on the mouse and dragged the frog out too, and ate them both. Moral: As you sow, so shall you reap.

Which is your favourite character of the story?

My favourite character is the mouse, because he was innocent and trusted his friend, even though the frog deceived him.

Unit 9: Patriotism

Unit 9: Patriotism — Book pages 83 to 93

B) Reading and Critical Thinking — Poem: 'A Nation's Strength'

What is a nation's strength?

A nation's strength is not gold but men. Brave men who work while others sleep, who dare while others fly, who stand fast for truth and honour's sake and suffer long — they build a nation's pillars deep and lift them to the sky.

What is the message of the poem in your opinion?

The message of the poem is that good people are more important than gold and jewels. A nation becomes great and strong through brave, truthful and hardworking people who serve it selflessly.

Why is education important for any country?

Education is important because it makes a nation strong by making people learned and skillful. It also makes lives better for those who need to struggle for their survival. Strong nations always work hard for the welfare of society.

How can we contribute to make our nation great and strong? Share your views.

We can contribute by being truthful, brave and hardworking, by getting education, by obeying the law, and by working for the welfare of society.

What is the main idea of the poem? Discuss it in your words.

The main idea of the poem is that the secret of a nation's success is its manpower. Good people are more important than gold and jewels. If a nation has brave and selfless people who fight for truth and honour, no one can stop it from making progress and getting strong.
