English Class 6 — Solved Exercises: Units 1 and 2 (Seert-un-Nabi; Eid-ul-Fitr)

English (SNC 2023-24) — English Medium — Class 6 — Punjab Curriculum and Textbook Board (PCTB)

Unit 1 — Seert-un-Nabi

Exercise A — Read the sentences and encircle the compound words (book page 5)

My fingernail is broken.

The compound word is fingernail, made of finger + nail. It names one thing, the nail on a finger, so it is written as a single word.

Please switch on the flashlight of your mobile phone.

The compound word is flashlight, made of flash + light. It is the small electric light of the mobile phone.

Where is my armchair; I had put it there?

The compound word is armchair, made of arm + chair. It is a comfortable chair with supports for the arms.

Yesterday I saw a house on fire. Then, firefighters came and put out the fire.

The compound word is firefighters, made of fire + fighters. It names the people whose job is to put out fires.

Exercise B — Fill in the blanks with the correct word (book page 6)

I am not allowed to go to the market alone.

Who ate my pancakes?

The air fare of Turkey is very high.

Please move forward.

Can you please grate the cheese for me.

Exercise C — Singular nouns written in plural form

Make a list of singular nouns that are written in plural form (book page 10).

These nouns look plural but are singular in meaning, and they take a singular verb, for example: This news is good. The book gives news, scissors, glasses, tweezers, pants and jeans. Others of the same kind are shorts, mathematics, physics and economics. Final answer: news, scissors, glasses, tweezers, pants, jeans, shorts, mathematics, physics, economics.

Exercise D — Sentence patterns SV and SVO

Make three simple sentences of your own using the SV pattern (book page 11).

SV pattern (subject + intransitive verb, no object needed): 1. The baby sleeps. 2. Birds fly. 3. She runs. Each sentence is complete with only a subject and a verb.

Make three simple sentences of your own using the SVO pattern (book page 11).

SVO pattern (subject + transitive verb + object): 1. The boy hurled stones. 2. Sana dropped her mobile. 3. My mother buys a cake. In each sentence the verb passes its action to an object.

Exercise E — Writing: a paragraph about a proud moment

Write a paragraph of 9-10 lines about a proud moment in your life. First write the topic sentence, then use supporting details to make it interesting. Punctuate and capitalise the text properly (book page 13).

My proudest moment came on the day my school announced the annual examination result. I had worked hard all year, and my teachers had always encouraged me to keep trying. When my name was called first in the class, my heart filled with joy and my eyes filled with tears. My parents smiled with pride, and my friends clapped loudly for me. My teacher shook my hand and said that hard work always brings success. That day taught me that patience, honesty and regular study never go waste. I still remember that moment whenever I feel tired of studying, and it gives me fresh courage to work harder.

Unit 2 — Eid-ul-Fitr

Quick Questions + While-reading (book pages 15-17)

Look at the picture given above and tell the class what they are celebrating?

The children in the picture are celebrating Eid-ul-Fitr. They are hugging each other outside the masjid in new clothes, which is the traditional Eid greeting after Salat ul Eid, and the picture shows the joy and togetherness of Eid day.

Which is the best event in the world for you? Share in four sentences.

The best event in the world for me is Eid-ul-Fitr. On Eid day, my whole family wears new clothes and goes to the masjid for Salat ul Eid. After the prayer, we hug our relatives and friends and share sweet dishes with them. Children receive Eidi from their elders, and the whole day is full of happiness, love and forgiveness.

Do you like Eid?

Yes, I like Eid very much. Eid-ul-Fitr comes after the holy month of Ramadan and brings happiness to every Muslim home. On Eid day, we wear new clothes, offer Salat ul Eid, meet our relatives and enjoy sweet dishes together. Eid teaches us to share our happiness with the poor and to forgive others.

In which month is Eid celebrated?

Eid-ul-Fitr is celebrated in Shawwal, the 10th month of the Islamic calendar. It commemorates the end of the holy month of Ramadan and the start of Shawwal, and Eid celebrations begin after the announcement of the Eid crescent.

Reading Comprehension — Use the words in sentences (book page 17) commemorates — honours.

Eid-ul-Fitr commemorates the end of the holy month of Ramadan, and it honours the completion of fasting and the sacred duties performed during Ramadan.

audible — able to be heard.

The voice of the Imam was clearly audible in the whole masjid during the Eid sermon, so every person in the congregation could hear it.

congregation — flock.

A large congregation gathered in the masjid and in open places to offer Salat ul Eid together on the morning of Eid.

accomplishment — achievement.

Completing the fasts of Ramadan is a great accomplishment, and Eid-ul-Fitr is the celebration of that achievement.

gratitude — thankfulness.

Eid-ul-Fitr is celebrated to show gratitude to Allah for His help and strength throughout the month of Ramadan.

desserts — sweets.

On Eid day, families eat special Eid desserts like sweet made with vermicelli and milk, kheer and other local desserts.

Answer the following questions (book page 18)

When do Muslims celebrate Eid-ul-Fitr?

Muslims celebrate Eid-ul-Fitr at the start of Shawwal, the 10th month of the Islamic calendar, after the holy month of Ramadan ends. The celebrations start after the announcement of the Eid crescent, and the night before Eid is known as Chand Raat.

What is fitrana and why do Muslims pay it?

Fitrana is an obligatory payment to the poor and less fortunate families, given prior to Eid namaz. Muslims pay it so that the poor can also enjoy the festivities of Eid, and in this way Muslims teach their children to help the needy and deserving as much as possible.

What type of food is offered on Eid-ul-Fitr?

On Eid-ul-Fitr, families offer special Eid food and desserts, such as sweet made with vermicelli and milk, kheer and other local desserts. It is a tradition to wear new clothes on Eid day and to eat these special sweet dishes together with family and guests.

Describe the purpose of Eid ul Fitr in a paragraph.

The purpose of Eid-ul-Fitr is to celebrate the completion of the holy month of Ramadan and to show gratitude to Allah for His help and strength throughout the month. It is a time to forgive others by inviting or visiting them, to help the poor through fitrana so they can also enjoy the festivities, and to bring peace and harmony among Muslims. Eid is also a national holiday in all Muslim countries, and it reminds Muslims of their sacred duties and of the revelation of the Holy Quran in Ramadan.

How do you celebrate your Eid day? Write short paragraphs.

On Eid day, I wake up early, wear my new clothes and go with my father to the masjid for Salat ul Eid. After the prayer, we hug our relatives and friends and wish them Eid Mubarak. At home, my mother serves sweet dishes, and my elders give me Eidi in the form of new currency notes or other gifts. In the evening, we visit our relatives, share food with our neighbours and enjoy the whole day with happiness and love.

Listening and Speaking — Pair discussion: junk food on the two Eids (book page 18)

Exchange your thoughts and opinions on: 'Intake of junk food increases on the two Eids, or how can we avoid junk food?'

In my opinion, the intake of junk food does increase on the two Eids, because guests are served cold drinks, fried snacks and sweets at every house. To avoid junk food, we should serve fresh fruit, homemade sweets and traditional dishes instead of packet food and fizzy drinks. We should also eat in small portions, drink water and share healthy food with our guests. In this way, we can enjoy Eid fully without harming our health.

Vocabulary — Homographs: make two sentences from each word in a pair (book page 19) bass.

Sentence 1 (a fish): We caught a bass in the lake yesterday. Sentence 2 (low sound): The singer sang in a deep bass voice that everyone could hear clearly.

minute.

Sentence 1 (a very small thing): The minute details of the drawing showed the artist's great skill. Sentence 2 (sixty seconds): Please wait a minute; I will come back soon.

firm.

Sentence 1 (a company): My father works in a firm that builds houses.

Sentence 2 (strong and steady): Hold the rope with a firm grip so that it does not slip.

tear.

Sentence 1 (a drop from the eye): A tear rolled down her cheek when she heard the sad news. Sentence 2 (to rip): Be careful not to tear the paper while you open the parcel.

watch.

Sentence 1 (a timepiece): My grandfather gave me a beautiful watch on my birthday. Sentence 2 (to look at): We will watch the Eid programme on television tonight.

Grammar — Sort the nouns under their respective heading (book page 20)

Masculine Gender: lion, waiter, farmer. Feminine Gender: hen, nurse. Common Gender: cousin. Neuter Gender: castle, feather.

Masculine gender represents males: lion, waiter and farmer are masculine. Feminine gender represents females: hen and nurse (shown as a female nurse in the book) are feminine. Common gender nouns are used for both males and females: cousin can be a boy or a girl, so it is common gender. Neuter gender nouns refer to inanimate objects: castle and feather are neuter gender.

Personal Pronouns — Use any three personal pronouns as subjective, objective and possessive pronouns and make sentences (book page 21)

Subjective pronouns: I, We, You, He, She. Objective pronouns: me, us, you, him, her. Possessive pronouns: mine, ours, yours, his, hers.

Subjective: I am not feeling well today. We are going on a picnic. She is making tea. Objective: Ali gave me a very cute pet cat. Who is going with us? Mother helped her in making tea. Possessive: This pair of shoes is mine. This picnic basket is ours. These notebooks are not his; they are hers.

Interrogative Pronouns — Make interrogative sentences with How, When, Whom, What, Why (book page 22)

How? When? Whom? What? Why?

How do you celebrate Eid-ul-Fitr with your family? When will you go to the masjid for Salat ul Eid? Whom did you meet first on Eid morning? What is your favourite Eid dish? Why do Muslims give fitrana before Eid namaz? Each of these sentences asks a question and ends with a question mark.

Demonstrative Pronouns — Make eight sentences using demonstrative pronouns (book page 22) this, that, these, those.

1. Look at this! 2. That looks like a fox. 3. There are many flowers. Do you like these? 4. Maha wears her mother's clothes. She looks odd in those. 5. This is my new dress for Eid. 6. That is the masjid where we offer Salat ul Eid. 7. These are the sweets my mother made for Eid. 8. Those children are hugging each other after the Eid prayer. This and these point to things close to the speaker, while that and those point to things far from the speaker.

Subject-Verb-Adjective (SVA) — Underline the subject, encircle the verb and tick the adjective (book page 22)

She was sick.

Subject: She. Verb: was. Adjective: sick. In this SVA sentence, the subject comes first, the verb second, and the adjective third, describing the subject.

He ran fast.

Subject: He. Verb: ran. Adjective/adverb: fast. In this sentence, He is the subject, ran is the verb, and fast describes how he ran.

He is intelligent.

Subject: He. Verb: is. Adjective: intelligent. The adjective intelligent describes the subject He.

The truck is big.

Subject: The truck. Verb: is. Adjective: big. The adjective big describes the truck.

The workers are lazy.

Subject: The workers. Verb: are. Adjective: lazy. The adjective lazy describes the workers.

Tenses — Choose the correct option (book page 23)

I play / plays football every Saturday.

I play football every Saturday. The subject I takes the present form play without s or es.

Do / Does they listen to rap music?

Do they listen to rap music? The subject they is plural, so Do is used, not Does.

Majid don't / doesn't set the table.

Majid doesn't set the table. Majid is a singular subject, so does + not (doesn't) is used.

We sometimes go / goes to the park.

We sometimes go to the park. The subject We takes the present form go without s.

I don't / doesn't watch television after nine p.m.

I don't watch television after nine p.m. The subject I takes do + not (don't), as the book states that Do is used for I and you.

They often visit / visits their grandparents on the weekends.

They often visit their grandparents on the weekends. The plural subject They takes visit, not visits.

Do / Does she like mangoes?

Does she like mangoes? The singular subject she takes Does.

My rabbit always eat / eats very fast.

My rabbit always eats very fast. The singular subject My rabbit takes eats with s.

Do / does Amana travel abroad every year?

Does Amana travel abroad every year? Amana is a singular subject, so Does is used.

Saad don't / doesn't play computer games on Saturdays.

Saad doesn't play computer games on Saturdays. Saad is a singular subject, so doesn't is used.

Complete the following sentences using the simple past tense (book page 24)

The show began at 10:30.

The children threw the ball.

We bought a new pair of shoes last Friday.

Amana came from Multan.

They drank two liters of water yesterday.

Fill in the blanks with 'will' or 'shall' (book page 24)

I shall wear a sweater next week.

He will buy a new shirt next month.

When will you go to Canada again?

We shall play football next Monday.

They will visit their parents next week.

Punctuation — Read and punctuate the following sentences (book page 24)

Wow your birthday gift is beautiful.

Wow! Your birthday gift is beautiful. The exclamation mark is used with the sentence showing strong feeling, Wow, and the sentence begins with a capital letter.

Hurray I scored full marks in my math test.

Hurray! I scored full marks in my math test. Hurray shows strong joy, so it takes an exclamation mark.

Alas I lost my purse.

Alas! I lost my purse. Alas shows strong sorrow, so it takes an exclamation mark.

Yay we made it.

Yay! We made it. Yay shows strong happiness, so it takes an exclamation mark.

Well-done what a great job.

Well-done! What a great job. Well-done shows praise and strong feeling, so it takes an exclamation mark, and the sentence begins with a capital letter.

Writing Skill — Write a few paragraphs about a time when you met your best friend for the very first time (book page 25)

Write a narrative paragraph, following the planning, drafting and reviewing guidelines (book pages 25-26).

I still remember the day I met my best friend for the very first time. It was my first day in class six, and I sat alone on a bench near the window, feeling shy and nervous. A boy named Ahmed came and sat beside me, smiled warmly and asked my name. We talked about our favourite games, and soon we discovered that we both loved cricket and reading storybooks. From that day, we sat together in class, played together in the ground and helped each other in our studies. That first meeting changed my school life completely, because I found a true friend who stands by me in happiness and in difficulty. I will always remember that day with joy and gratitude.

Planning questions for the narrative paragraph (book pages 25-26): What is the topic? Who are the characters? What is the setting (when/where)? Who is the main protagonist? What is the main idea, event and problem of the story?

Topic: the first meeting with my best friend. Characters: I and my best friend Ahmed. Setting: my classroom on the first day of class six. Main protagonist: I, the narrator, who meets his best friend. Main idea and event: a shy new student finds a kind classmate, and their friendship begins; the problem is the narrator's nervousness on the first day, which ends when Ahmed speaks to him kindly. Drafting: write the heading on top of the page, organise the events in the right order, use simple past tense and vocabulary that shows the characters' feelings. Reviewing: check that the writing contains heading, characters, setting, key details, main idea and ending, and proofread the final draft for errors.