Chapter 9: Stories with Moral Lessons

Stories with Moral Lessons — Morals and Summaries

What is the moral of the story "Honesty is the Best Policy"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Honesty is the best policy. An old king gave each of his three sons a seed to plant. The two elder sons cheated by planting other seeds when theirs did not grow, but the youngest son honestly showed his empty pot because the seeds given were dead and useless. The king made the honest son the next king, because honesty is the most important quality of a king.

What is the moral of the story "A Friend in Need is a Friend Indeed"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: A friend in need is a friend indeed. Two friends walking in a forest promised never to leave each other in need. When a bear appeared, one climbed a tree and left the other, who lay flat like a dead body, since a bear does not eat a dead body. The bear went away, and the friend on the ground said the bear had whispered that a friend in need is a friend indeed. The false friend felt ashamed and apologized.

What is the moral of the story "Union is Strength"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: United we stand, divided we fall. An old farmer gave his quarrelling sons a bundle of sticks which none of them could break. When the bundle was untied, each stick broke easily. The father taught them that if they live together in peace, none can harm them, but if they are divided, they will lose.

What is the moral of the story "The Mouse and the Lion"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Love and kindness are never wasted. A lion spared a tiny mouse who begged for mercy and promised to repay him. A few days later the lion was caught in a hunter's net, and the little mouse gnawed the net with her sharp teeth until the lion was free. Thereafter, the lion and the mouse became good friends.

What is the moral of the story "The Foolish Stag"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: All that glitters is not gold; Appearances are often deceptive; Pride hath a fall. A stag was proud of his beautiful antlers and hated his thin, ugly legs. When hounds chased him, his despised legs carried him far away, but his beautiful antlers got caught in a thick bush, and the hounds tore him to pieces.

What is the moral of the story "The King and the Spider"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: Perseverance paves the way for success; Try, try again until you succeed; No pain, no gain. King Robert Bruce of Scotland had lost six battles and was hiding in a cave. He watched a spider fail six times to spin its thread across the cave, and succeed on the seventh attempt. Inspired, he gathered his army once more and won back his kingdom.

What is the moral of the story "Greed is a Curse"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Greed is a curse. Three friends found a bag full of gold on a picnic. Two of them planned to kill the third who went to bring food, so they could have a bigger share. The third friend poisoned the food to kill the other two and keep all the gold himself. The two killed him, ate the poisoned food, and died too. The gold was still there, but it was of no use to them.

What is the moral of the story "As You Sow, So Shall You Reap"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: As you sow, so shall you reap; Tit for tat. A jackal rode on a camel's back across a river and then howled after a meal, bringing the field owner who thrashed the camel. On the way back, the camel dived into the deep river, saying that bathing after a hearty meal was his habit, and the jackal drowned.

What is the moral of the story "Look Before You Leap"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: Look before you leap; Haste makes waste. A hunter left his baby with his faithful dog. A wolf entered and the dog killed it to save the baby. The hunter returned, saw the dog's blood-stained snout, thought the dog had killed his child, and shot the dog. Then he found his child safe and a dead wolf beside him, and realized his mistake, but crying over spilt milk was of no use.

What is the moral of the story "The Thief and His Mother"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Nip the evil in the bud. A boy stole a book from a classmate, and his mother encouraged him instead of scolding him. He went on stealing bigger things until he was caught red-handed and sentenced to long imprisonment. On his way to jail he bit his mother's ear and said that if she had slapped him after the first theft, he would not have gone to jail and would have lived like a decent person.

What is the moral of the story "The Hare and the Tortoise"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Slow and steady wins the race. A proud hare laughed at the slow tortoise and accepted a race. The hare ran far ahead, then slept under a tree, confident that the tortoise would take ages to reach him. The slow and steady tortoise kept moving without rest, passed the sleeping hare, and won the race.

What is the moral of the story "The Crow and the Pitcher"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: Necessity is the mother of invention; A good use of our wits may help us out; Little by little does the trick. A thirsty crow found a pitcher with very little water at the bottom, out of reach of his beak. He dropped pebbles into the pitcher one by one, and the water rose a little higher with each pebble, until he could drink and save his life.

What is the moral of the story "A Stitch in Time Saves Nine"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: A stitch in time saves nine. A merchant ignored a stableman's advice to fix a loose nail in his horse's shoe, saying one nail makes no difference. The shoe came off, the horse limped, night fell, and robbers whipped him and grabbed his cash. His delay in a small repair cost him his horse and his money.

What is the moral of the story "A Rolling Stone Gathers No Moss"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: A rolling stone gathers no moss. In a war between birds and animals, the bat sided with whoever seemed to be winning, claiming to be a bird with the birds and an animal with the animals. When the animals won, both sides turned the bat out. Since then, the bat has become a symbol of duplicity, showing its face neither to animals nor to birds, and coming out only in the dark.

What is the moral of the story "An Arab and His Camel"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Give him an inch, and he will take an ell. On a cold desert night, an Arab allowed his camel to put only its head, then its neck, then its hump inside the tent. Step by step the camel pushed its whole body in, until the Arab woke up outside in the cold while the camel slept peacefully inside. The Arab said that one should not be too kind to others, or one will lose all one has.

What is the moral of the story "The Bee and the Dove"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: One good turn deserves another; Kindness never goes unrewarded. A dove dropped a leaf near a bee drowning in a river, and the bee dried her wings and flew away safely. Later, when a hunter aimed at the dove, the bee stung the hunter, his shot missed, and the dove flew away. Thus the bee paid the debt of the dove's favour.

What is the moral of the story "The Little Fish"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: A bird in hand is worth two in the bush; A small gain is worth more than a large promise. A fisherman caught a very small fish which begged to be put back, promising that it would grow much bigger and could be caught again later. The fisherman replied that it might never be caught again, and kept the small fish, which his wife cooked and they ate with relish.

What is the moral of the story "The Hen that Laid Golden Eggs"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: Haste makes waste; Greed is a curse; It is useless to cry over spilt milk; Contentment is a great blessing. A cloth merchant owned a hen that laid one golden egg every day. Not satisfied, he killed the hen to get all the eggs at once, but found nothing inside but blood. He was grieved because now he would not get even a single egg.

What is the moral of the story "The Wolf and the Lamb"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Might is right. A wolf drinking upstream accused a lamb downstream of muddying his water. The lamb replied that the water flows from the wolf to him, not from him to the wolf. The wolf then accused the lamb of abusing him last year, but the lamb said he was not born last year and was only six months old. The wolf said it must have been his father or mother, and tore the lamb to pieces and devoured it.

What is the moral of the story "King Midas and the Golden Touch"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: Don't be greedy in life, be happy with what you have. King Midas wished that everything he touched should turn into gold. His food, drink, and even his beloved daughter Marigold turned into gold, and he was horrified. He begged the fairy to take back his wish, bathed in a pond and sprinkled the water on all he had touched, and his daughter came back to life. Thereafter, he promised to stop being greedy.

What is the moral of the story "The Boy Who Cried Wolf"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: A liar will not be believed, even when he speaks the truth. A shepherd boy twice cried "Wolf! Wolf!" for fun, and the villagers ran up the hill only to find no wolf. When a real wolf came and he cried out loudly, the villagers thought he was fooling them again and did not come. The wolf scattered the flock, and an old man told him that nobody believes a liar, even when he is telling the truth.

What is the moral of the story "A Wise Counting"? Give a brief summary.

Moral: A witty answer will serve its purpose. Emperor Akbar asked his courtiers how many crows there were in the city. Birbal replied at once: "There are fifty thousand five hundred and eighty-nine crows, my lord." When Akbar asked how he could be so sure, Birbal said that if more were found, it meant some had come to visit their relatives, and if fewer, some had gone to visit relatives elsewhere. Akbar was pleased with Birbal's wit.

What is the moral of the story "The Blue Jackal"? Give a brief summary.

Morals: Be true to yourself and don't pretend to be someone you are not; Every action has an opposite reaction; Tit for tat. A jackal fell into a tub of blue dye and, looking completely blue, claimed to the jungle animals that God had sent him to be their king. He ruled them and even threw out the other jackals. One day the banned jackals howled, and the blue jackal howled out of habit too, so the animals identified him as a jackal and unmasked his true identity.

Exercise 11.1 — Translation from Urdu into English (Exercise 1)

Translate the following Urdu passage into English: سیر ماری صحت، دولت اور خوشی کے لیے بترین ہے میں تندرست رہنا اور تندرست رکھنا میں مدد کرتی ، میں جوان رکھتی ، میں ذہنی سکون دیتی اور ماری زندگی کو خوشگوار بناتی جو لوگ سیر کرتے ہیں و زیاد تندرست رہتے ہیں، اور جو نہیں کرتے و بیمار رہتے ہیں سیر میں تازگی بخشتی اور میں کام کرنے کی طاقت دیتی

A walk is the best thing for our health, wealth and happiness. It helps us to remain healthy and fit, keeps us young, gives us mental peace and makes our life pleasant. People who take a walk remain healthier, while those who do not fall ill. A walk refreshes us and gives us the strength to work.

Exercise 11.1 — Translation from Urdu into English (Exercise 2)

Translate the following Urdu passage into English: لوڈشیڈنگ ہمارے ملک کی ترقی میں بڑی رکاوٹ ہے امیر اور غریب دونوں کو متاثر کرتی ، لیکن یہ زیاد غریبوں پر اثر انداز ہوتی لوڈشیڈنگ صنعتوں، کاروبار اور تجارت کو نقصان پہنچاتی طلبہ کی تعلیم متاثر ہوتی کیونکہ وہ رات کو پڑھ نہیں سکتے لوڈشیڈنگ کی وجہ سے کئی مریض ہسپتالوں میں مر جاتے ہیں اس کا حل یہ ہے کہ نئے ڈیم بنائے جائیں اور بجلی کی پیداوار بڑھائی جائے

Load-shedding is a great obstacle in the progress of our country. It affects both the rich and the poor, but it affects the poor more. Load-shedding harms industries, business and trade. The education of students suffers because they cannot study at night. Many patients die in hospitals because of load-shedding. Its solution is that new dams should be built and the production of electricity should be increased.

Translate the following Urdu passage into English: سوشل میڈیا کے کئی اپنے مسائل ہیں ان لوگوں کے لیے جو سادہ لوگ ہیں سوشل میڈیا ان کے لیے ان کی اپنی چیزیں اور مجبوریاں چھپائے گی یہی ایسا حقیقت کے باوجود کہ یہ نشہ وقت، حقیقت کی عکاسی نہیں کرتا لوگ اپنے کامل دن کے بارے میں پوسٹ کرتے ہیں جو میرے لیے اکثر نہیں ہوتی لیکن نیا ہر مہینہ صرف ایک بار ہوتا جس کا مطلب کہ آپ کو اپنی پوسٹ کرنے کے لیے کچھ نہ ہوگا کوئی بھی جتنا تب تک کسی اور نہ میں پلے نہیں بتایا ہو

Social media has many problems of its own. For simple people, social media hides their own troubles and compulsions from them. This is so even though this addiction does not reflect reality. People post about their perfect day, which is not often the reality, and something new happens only once a month. This means that you will have nothing of your own to post. Nobody knows anything until someone else has told us first.

Translate the following Urdu passage into English: کشمیر کا تنازع پاکستان اور بھارت کے درمیان ایک پرانا تنازع ہے 1947 میں برطانوی ہندوستان کی تقسیم کے بعد شروع ہوا جب برصغیر کی تقسیم ہوئی تو کشمیر ایک آزاد ریاست تھی جسے بھارت یا پاکستان میں شامل ہونے کا اختیار دیا گیا تھا کشمیر کے حکمران نے بھارت کے ساتھ الحاق کا فیصلہ کیا لیکن کشمیری عوام پاکستان کے ساتھ الحاق چاہتے تھے اس کے بعد سے کشمیر کا مسئلہ دونوں ممالک کے درمیان تنازع کی وجہ بنا ہوا ہے کشمیر کے لوگ آج بھی اپنے حق خودارادیت کے لیے جدوجہد کر رہے ہیں

The Kashmir dispute is an old dispute between Pakistan and India. It began after the partition of British India in 1947. At the time of the partition of the subcontinent, Kashmir was an independent state which was given the choice to join India or Pakistan. The ruler of Kashmir decided to join India, but the Kashmiri people wanted to join Pakistan. Since then, the Kashmir issue has remained a cause of dispute between the two countries, and the people of Kashmir are still struggling for their right to self-determination today.

My village is a beautiful village. Around the village there are lush green fields. Nowadays many facilities are available in the village. Many people live in the village. The people are very hardworking. They rise early in the morning and work in the fields. There is a mosque in the village. The people of the village are very sociable. They help one another. There is a school in the village. Children study in the school. The people of the village are very happy.

Exercise 11.1 — Translation from Urdu into English (Exercise 7)

Translate the following Urdu passage into English: یہ ایک ایسی کہانی جو انسان میں پائی جانے والی ارادے کی کمزوری اور غیر مستقل مزاجی کی عکاسی کرتی افسانہ نگار نے علامتی طور پر ایک شخص کا سفر بیان کیا جو غلط بس میں سوار ہو جاتا اور دوران سفر اس کے ذہن میں مختلف خیالات کا جوار بھاٹا اٹھتا رہتا کسی ایک خیال کو بھی عملی جامہ نہیں پہنا پاتا اسے یہ احساس کچھ دیر کے بعد ہوتا ہے کہ وہ غلط بس میں سوار ہے لیکن بس کی رفتار اور رش کی وجہ سے وہ کوئی قدم نہیں اٹھا پاتا

This is a story that reflects the weakness of will and inconsistency found in man. The fiction writer has symbolically described the journey of a person who boards the wrong bus. During the journey, a tide of different thoughts keeps rising in his mind, and he cannot put even a single thought into practice. After some time he realizes that he is on the wrong bus, but because of the speed of the bus and the rush, he cannot take any step.

Chapter 11: Translation — Exercise 11.2 (English into Urdu)

Exercise 11.2 — Translation from English into Urdu (Exercise 1)

Translate the following English passage into Urdu: Sometimes we come across some forgetful people in our surroundings. And some geniuses are also forgetful to some extent. We know that Newton boiled his pocket watch instead of an egg. Once Einstein was travelling on a train without a ticket. When the checker demanded the ticket, he frantically started searching for the missing ticket. However, when the checker could recognize him, he assured that the scientist would not have to search for it. Einstein still went on searching and remarked that he was searching to find out where he was going as he had forgotten about his destination.

Exercise 11.2 — Translation from English into Urdu (Exercise 2)

Translate the following English passage into Urdu: We all know that health is wealth. With its intricate network of bones, muscles, and organs, a well-functioning human body is much like an orchestrated symphony. To keep this orchestra playing well, we need physical exercise. It may take the form of sports, yoga, or even regular walking. It is well-known that people who engage in physical exercise stay happier and live longer.

ہم سب جانتے ہیں کہ صحت ہی دولت ہے۔ ہڈیوں، پٹھوں اور اعضاء کے پیچیدہ نظام کے ساتھ، ایک اچھی طرح کام کرنے والا انسانی جسم ایک منظم سمفنی کی طرح ہے۔ اس آرکسٹرا کو اچھی طرح بجاتے رکھنے کے لیے جسمانی ورزش کی ضرورت ہے۔ یہ کھیلوں، یوگا، یا حتیٰ کہ باقاعدہ چہل قدمی کی صورت میں ہو سکتی ہے۔ یہ بات اچھی طرح معلوم ہے کہ جو لوگ جسمانی ورزش کرتے ہیں وہ زیادہ خوش رہتے ہیں اور زیادہ عرصہ زندہ رہتے ہیں۔

Translate the following English passage into Urdu: Our society is turning towards more and more technical sophistication and automation. The machine has replaced our physical labour. To compensate for this lifestyle we need physical exercise. Exercise also sharpens our intellect. It keeps a balance between our body and mind. With the help of regular physical training, we will stay healthier, happier, and more alert. However, over-exercise or exercising in an improper way may tell upon our health and growth. We must therefore do it in a balanced form.

ہمارا معاشرہ زیادہ سے زیادہ تکنیکی ترقی اور خودکاری کی طرف بڑھ رہا ہے۔ مشین نے ہماری جسمانی محنت کی جگہ لے لی ہے۔ اس طرزِ زندگی کی تلافی کے لیے جسمانی ورزش کی ضرورت ہے۔ ورزش ہماری عقل کو بھی تیز کرتی ہے۔ یہ ہمارے جسم اور دماغ کے درمیان توازن رکھتی ہے۔ باقاعدہ جسمانی تربیت کی مدد سے ہم زیادہ صحت مند، خوش اور چوکس رہیں گے۔ تاہم زیادہ ورزش یا غلط طریقے سے ورزش ہماری صحت اور نشوونما پر برا اثر ڈال سکتی ہے۔ اس لیے ہمیں اسے متوازن انداز میں کرنا چاہیے۔

Translate the following English passage into Urdu: In recent periods, many campaigns have been organized against employing children in mines, factories, motor garages, restaurants, tea stalls, and shops. Various households employ poor children though only a few provide their child servants with adequate food and clothing. They are deprived of education and their wages are paid to their parents and money is rarely spent on them. It is the extreme poverty of their parents that forces the children to adopt such a profession at a minor age. Hence, we need not only strict laws but also thorough economic reforms to reduce the poverty line. At the same time, the spread of literacy is essential to root out these shameful practices still prevalent in our country.

حالیہ دنوں میں کانوں، کارخانوں، موٹر گیراجوں، ریستورانوں، چائے کے سٹالوں اور دکانوں میں بچوں کو ملازمت دینے کے خلاف بہت سی مہمات چلائی گئی ہیں مختلف گھرانے غریب بچوں کو ملازمت دیتے ہیں اگرچہ صرف چند ہی اپنے کمسن ملازموں کو مناسب کھانا اور کپڑا دیتے ہیں و تعلیم سے محروم رہتے ہیں اور ان کی اجرت ان کے والدین کو دی جاتی اور رقم شاذ و نادر ہی ان پر خرچ ہوتی یہ ان کے والدین کی شدید غربت جو بچوں کو کم عمری میں ایسا پیشہ اپنانے پر مجبور کرتی اس لیے میں نہ صرف سخت قوانین بلکہ غربت کی لکیر کو کم کرنے کے لیے مکمل معاشی اصلاحات کی بھی ضرورت اس کے ساتھ ساتھ، ہمارے ملک میں اب بھی رائج ان شرمناک رواجوں کو ختم کرنے کے لیے خواندگی کا پھیلاؤ ضروری

Translate the following English passage into Urdu: The greatest wealth is our health. A healthy body can earn great wealth but, a wealthy person cannot earn great health. We live in a fast-moving world where individuals have no time for themselves. Most of their life withers away in search of materialistic wealth to outshine others but, along the way, they lose their health. Wealth matters, but, is not as important as health. Spending lots of money on junk food in five-star hotels or on other entertainment sources like watching films for a day and so on has no advantages other than self-satisfaction.

Exercise 11.2 — Translation from English into Urdu (Exercise 6)

Translate the following English passage into Urdu: Co-education is a system of education in which boys and girls study together in a common school or a college. Co-education was not prevalent in ancient times. It is a groundbreaking thought. The parents supported the case for adequate education for the children irrespective of their sex. The countrymen realized that the boys and girls have to move together and shoulder to shoulder in every walk of life in the free world. They started educating their children in co-educational institutions. Co-education creates an environment of competition among boys and girls through the activities which they carry out in the schools. That is the reason why the students of co-educational institutions do better in every walk of their lives.

Exercise 11.2 — Translation from English into Urdu (Exercise 10)

Translate the following English passage into Urdu: Reading develops our brains and gives us the ability to understand life in a much better fashion. Besides, there's a lot of room for grammar and language development. When you read a lot, you learn new words all the time. I firmly believe books can go more in-depth than a movie can. When you read a script and then watch the movie more details are added that would not be there in a movie. As a rule, I always read at least a few pages every day. I read books primarily to learn, grow, and feed my curiosities and love for good stories.

Sample Paragraph — Smog

Write a paragraph on Smog.

Smog is air pollution that reduces visibility. The term smog was first introduced in the early 1900s to describe a mixture of smoke and fog. Smog is usually caused by the combustion of coal, wood and other solid fuels. Smog is very common in industrial areas and it remains a familiar sight in cities, particularly in the winter. Smog inhalation irritates our airways and increases our risk of serious heart and lung diseases. It is due to these health hazards that cities monitor smog levels. On a high ozone-alert day, eyes and throat may burn, resulting in cough and wheeze. It is of utmost importance that people should take positive steps to control smog so that they can live in a healthy environment.

Sample Paragraph — Poverty

Write a paragraph on Poverty.

Poverty is about not having enough money to meet basic needs including food, clothing and shelter. The World Bank Organization describes poverty in this way: "Poverty is hunger." Poverty is a source of problems and pain in human life. Owing to poverty people live their entire life in the absence of essential commodities. A poverty-stricken person can neither meet his needs nor that of his family. Poverty always acts as a barrier on the path of happiness. Poverty limits access to educational and employment opportunities which further contribute to income inequalities. This menace can be eliminated through equity, education, and resilience.

Chapter 13: Essays — Outlines (Thesis, Body, Conclusion)

Essay Outline — Internet

Write an outline of the essay "Internet".

Thesis: The internet is a worldwide spread computer network, the only means of exchanging data through computer networking, which has swept the world off its feet with its vast usage. Body: (1) It has enabled the growth of society both positively and negatively, diluting some moral values but helping in economy, culture, politics and religion. (2) Communication platforms like Facebook, WhatsApp and email have shortened distances and introduced video calls. (3) Education has been made easy through websites like Google, and online learning is gaining accreditation worldwide. (4) The negative side: obsession with virtual identities at the expense of real selves. Conclusion: One should not let the tech environment eat up one's whole real existence; netizens should remember that excess of everything is bad, and only limits ensure freedom.

Essay Outline — Traffic Problems in Big Cities

Write an outline of the essay "Traffic Problems in Big Cities".

Thesis: Travelling has become more comfortable and quicker due to the boom in the automobile industry, but it has caused many traffic problems, and the traffic problem in a big city has gone beyond proportion. Body: (1) Traffic congestion makes a city's life miserable; jams last for hours, people miss offices and schools, patients miss medical aid, and passengers feel frustrated and angry. (2) Causes: unchecked population growth and influx of villagers, narrow and uneven roads, and people not educated enough to follow traffic rules. (3) Measures: urbanize the villages and discourage migration, educate people to follow traffic rules, widen and maintain roads, and discourage protocol culture and reserved roads for V.I.Ps. Conclusion: Traffic jams are a daily occurrence, but the given measures can help reduce traffic congestion in big cities.

Essay Outline — A Visit to a Zoo

Write an outline of the essay "A Visit to a Zoo".

Thesis: Gone are the days when zoo trips used to be the most thrilling spot children loved to visit, but for a person who has never visited a zoo, such a trip can be a cherishing experience and offers many learning opportunities. Body: (1) The Lahore Zoo visit on a Sunday with family; tickets at 11.30 a.m.; water birds on a blue lake, a white duck, and a birds' enclosure with sparrows, pigeons, eagles and parrots. (2) Wild animals: lions, tigers, leopards and tigresses, whose roars terrorized the children; the tiger's den, elephants and bears. (3) A garden with stags and deer, monkeys and baboons jumping for bananas, deserted-looking polar bears, and a tank of crocodiles, cobras and pythons. Conclusion: A simple touch taught a lot and gave an incredible experience; a trip to the zoo will never fail to bring out the inner child in you.

Essay Outline — Village Life

Write an outline of the essay "Village Life".

Thesis: A village reflects a picture of regional, cultural and social customs, very different from an urban area; life is simple and pure, with mud houses, narrow paths and unpaved roads. Body: (1) Pakistan is predominantly agricultural; the majority live in villages, enjoying matchless scenic beauty, lush green fields, tall trees and blossoming flowers. (2) Village life is calm, peaceful, free of noise pollution and the rush of traffic; villagers are simple, sincere, industrious, hospitable and generous, enjoying mutual cooperation. (3) The occupation of most villagers is agriculture, with hard work from early morning; government offices and factories are rare, though a few artisans like carpenters and blacksmiths work there. (4) Problems: village life is a mixed blessing, devoid of basic amenities, lagging in education, modern cultivation and facilities, though villagers entertain themselves with folk dances, fairs and music like Mahiyas and Tappas. Conclusion: More than seventy per cent of our people live in villages, but very little attention is given to uplifting them; without solid measures for the improvement of village life, Pakistan cannot make progress by leaps and bounds.

Essay Outline — My Last Day at College

Write an outline of the essay "My Last Day at College".

Thesis: College life is one of the best periods of one's life, a life of freedom, friendship and intellectual growth, and that is why the last day at college brings tears to the eyes and grief to the heart. Body: (1) The writer reached college on a sunny April morning, feeling that everything would become a memory of the past. (2) The teachers were emotional too; the students sought guidance on future plans and cheered themselves with jokes. (3) The cafeteria, the centre of all activities, welcomed them with cold drinks and snacks free of cost. (4) A farewell dinner at the Boarding House, organized by the talented first-year juniors, with singers among teachers and students, and the Principal and Vice Principal wishing a bright future. Conclusion: Finally the festivities came to an end; that day was indeed a memorable event of life, and weighed down with a heavy heart, the writer returned home along the lonely road.

Essay Outline — Advantages and Disadvantages of Cell Phones

Write an outline of the essay "Advantages and Disadvantages of Cell Phones".

Thesis: The mobile phone is a significant technological advancement, small, portable and affordable, which has greatly benefitted the human race, but it also has negative aspects. Body: (1) Advantages: communication with anyone anywhere in the world; information through a click, with 55% of adults keeping a cell phone to access information; education flourished through learning applications; entertainment without going to cinemas. (2) Disadvantages: it creates distance between parents, friends and relatives; distraction through video games and social media; a health hazard for the young generation; dependence, wasting precious time, money and energy; cybercrime and data-stealing applications. Conclusion: Through mobile phones the world has become one big family, but mind can be an excellent slave and a poor master; cell phones are a means of communication and should be used in a way that one may not become a slave to them.

Essay Outline — Festivals

Write an outline of the essay "Festivals".

Thesis: Festivals are celebrations that make a nation honour its values and culture, and a nation celebrates different festivals to promote its culture by sharing the reasons of past events. Body: (1) Pakistani people celebrate cultural festivals with great zeal; some festivals are nation-wide and others within certain communities, all with complete unity. (2) Pakistan is the land of diverse ethnicities with deeply-rooted cultural and religious values. (3) Religious festivals: Eid-ul-Fitr, Eid-ul-Adha and Eid Milad-un-Nabi, celebrated with religious passion. (4) National and cultural festivals: Independence Day, Defence Day, Resolution Day, Mela Chiraghan, Shandur Polo Festival, Quaid's Day and Iqbal's Day. (5) Minorities' festivals: Christmas, Easter, Guru Nanak's Birthday and Holi. Conclusion: All these festivities are organized to celebrate special events, the government announces public holidays on some of them, and they are celebrated with great zeal and zest by the communities of our beloved motherland.

Essay Outline — A Rainy Day

Write an outline of the essay "A Rainy Day".

Thesis: Rainy days are expected during the rainy season and are an absolute joy for men, women and especially children; rain after a long hot scorching summer is a welcoming relief. Body: (1) The sparkling clear shower pacifies souls and rejuvenates spirits; paper boats, pearl-like raindrops on trees and flowers, and chirping birds delight the eyes. (2) For children, rainy days are a sudden break from busy schedules; they run about splashing water, stretch arms out of car windows, and smile as raindrops drip from their palms. (3) Schoolchildren draw smiling faces in smoke on window glass; poets capture natural dreams in metaphors; the tinkling sound of rain on tin roofs infuses new spirit into exhausted souls. Conclusion: Mother nature brings us back to her lap where we forget the worries of modern life; rainy days become harbingers of a new life, and every dark cloud has a silver lining which renews hope and motivates us.

Essay Outline — My Favourite Personality

Write an outline of the essay "My Favourite Personality".

Thesis: My favourite personality is Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah, a man of great courage and determination whose charismatic personality stimulates enthusiasm, courage and energy in people and unites them as a nation. Body: (1) Born in Karachi on 25th December 1876, in a well-off merchant's family; his father Poonjah Jinnah was conscious of his son's education; he observed discipline which pointed to his bright future. (2) After matriculation he went to England, studied law in Lincoln's Inn, became a barrister, and started law practice in Karachi, becoming a distinguished lawyer. (3) He joined the Indian National Congress, then the Muslim League and became its leader; he united the Muslims on a single platform and fought for their rights despite failing health. (4) In 1940 he declared the Lahore Resolution demanding a separate state, making people realize that Muslims and Hindus are different in traditions and religion and cannot live together in a single state. Conclusion: Quaid-e-Azam united and led an oppressed nation to a state where they could live an independent and free life; owing to his love, honesty and truthfulness he became the most charismatic leader of Muslim history, who said: "There is no power on the Earth that can undo Pakistan."

Essay Outline — Terrorism

Write an outline of the essay "Terrorism".

Thesis: Terrorism is an act which aims at creating fear among people by illegal means; it is a threat to humanity and an act of cowardice, often construed as a well thought-out extreme form of violence. Body: (1) It includes persons or groups spreading violence, riots, burglaries, kidnapping, fighting and bombing. (2) Since 9/11, Pakistan has been at the epicenter of both terrorism and the war against it, gaining a negative reputation, though terrorism has nothing to do with religion and extremists use religion as an alibi. (3) Effects: lives of all and sundry destroyed, millions of goods destroyed, thousands of lives lost, families torn apart, people losing hope, and a cycle of uncertainty which only begets violence. (4) The dilemma: terrorists are common people like us, victims of social injustices or brainwashed by extremist groups, trained to act violently against their own society. Conclusion: Terrorism has spread across the world, contaminating innocent minds and stripping them of their sense of security; to reduce the regime of terror, a tight security arrangement should be made on the orders of the government.

Essay Outline — A Road Accident

Write an outline of the essay "A Road Accident".

Thesis: Every now and then we hear of accidents, common sights in large cities, which kill and cripple people for life; the reason for most accidents is violation of traffic rules, and public transport buses are the worst offenders. Body: (1) Last week the writer witnessed a terrifying accident: a city bus at great speed lost control, collided head-on with another vehicle, crashed through barriers, and smashed into an iron railing and boundary wall. (2) A passerby was crushed under the bus and died instantly; a few passengers lost their lives and some were injured seriously, while the driver of the other vehicle survived miraculously. (3) People gathered, helped victims out through windows, and the police and Rescue 1122 arrived in time; the driver and conductor fled at once. (4) The police took the bus papers to identify the driver and owner; witnesses said the driver was driving rashly while attempting to overtake another bus. Conclusion: It was late night when the writer came home, but the memory of that accident haunted him for many days to come.

Essay Outline — Examinations

Write an outline of the essay "Examinations".

Thesis: No nation can progress without education, and a well-reformed system of examination is necessary for better education, but unfortunately our system of examination is replete with faults. Body: (1) The current system only tests the memory of students and does not test their knowledge, understanding and comprehension, so students learn through cramming and rote learning. (2) The method of evaluation does not do justice: examiners mark differently, some strict and some lenient, making assessment personal and inaccurate, and subjective questions cannot be awarded exact marks. (3) Malpractices: corrupt invigilators take money and help students cheat, papers are leaked, and students bribe examiners. (4) Examinations are held in the scorching heat of summer with power outages, and short academic terms mean courses cannot be completed. (5) Reforms: more emphasis on critical thinking to minimize rote learning, examinations in the spring season for pleasant weather, longer academic years, question papers testing knowledge and insight, and motivation through prizes and scholarships. Conclusion: These reforms will enable students to focus on grasping concepts rather than learning them by heart, and will muster up their motivation to perform well.

Essay Outline — Education System of Pakistan

Write an outline of the essay "Education System of Pakistan".

Thesis: Education is the process of acquiring knowledge, developing skills, getting training and learning moral values, necessary for a stable life, self-independence and self-confidence, and its main goal is to develop a high sense of responsibility, social integrity and selfless service to the nation. Body: (1) The system lacks uniformity, divided into private and government sectors, which promotes discrimination; the elite class is attracted by the private sector while government schools are of low quality due to lack of accountability and inadequate budget. (2) Lack of qualified and trained staff is a main reason for the poor system. (3) Parental participation is crucial, but without it, policy implementation remains a far cry. (4) Causes of suffering: lack of budget, lack of implementation of policies, poor physical facilities, political interference, old and outdated curriculum, unavailability of science and computer laboratories, and old teaching methods still prevalent. (5) The media seems paralysed by political influence and does not highlight corrupt practices; officials eye their own interests instead of bringing visible changes. Conclusion: In short, there is a need of the hour to take radical measures to reform the ailing state education system, so that more intellectual literates can be produced, who will bring us to limelight and lead us to the glory we deserve as a nation.

Essay Outline — Atomic Energy

Write an outline of the essay "Atomic Energy".

Thesis: During the Second World War, America fought against Japan, and both countries tried hard to make a weapon that could vanquish the enemy completely; Einstein had already presented his theory of relativity, and finally the Americans succeeded in making an atomic bomb, the first of its nature. Body: (1) The bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki caused hellacious massacre and destruction, turning thousands of people into ashes in an instant, showing how dangerous atomic energy could be for war purposes. (2) Scientists have worked on using this technology for peaceful and constructive ends; the splitting of atoms creates an infinite amount of energy which can cause unlimited destruction if left unchecked, but if harnessed properly it can solve energy crises efficiently. (3) Research found that a few grams of the desired element could satisfy the electricity demands of thousands of villages. (4) Compared with other energy types, nuclear power is environmentally friendly: it generates clean energy by bombarding uranium with neutrons instead of burning fossil fuels, produces no carbon dioxide emissions, and its waste has a fairly low level of radioactivity. Conclusion: More than seven countries have atomic plants working for the betterment of humankind; it is a highly emphasized fact that atomic energy should only be used for productive sources and not for destructive ends.

Essay Outline — Pollution

Write an outline of the essay "Pollution".

Thesis: Pollution is the main factor which affects our lives badly on the earth; there are several types such as noise, water, air and land pollution, and it is hazardous to life, changing and damaging habitats and affecting other species. Body: (1) Air pollution is the deadliest type, caused by unwanted particles suspended in the air; leading causes are smoke from cars, factories and CFCs, which destroy the ozone layer that blocks bad rays from the sun; carbon dioxide envelops the atmosphere, raising temperature day by day, melting ice and causing floods. (2) Water pollution: humans throw garbage and waste into clean water, factories dispose of unwanted chemicals, drinkable water is reducing, and oil spillage kills thousands of marine lives. (3) Land pollution: people do not throw garbage into trashcans but onto the land, and waste disposal companies do not dispose of it at proper sites. Conclusion: Pollution is not only harmful but a very serious threat; to fight this menace, vigorous efforts should be put in, anti-pollution law should be strictly implemented, sewage and factory waste should be dumped properly, and public education and awareness of the relationship between climate change and human health is the key to dealing with these problems more effectively.

Essay Outline — The Dignity of Labour

Write an outline of the essay "The Dignity of Labour".

Thesis: Nobody in this world can survive independently, as we are all social animals who work in collaboration with one another; people believe that professions fetching good money are respectable, but all jobs and professions are respectable provided they are permissible and done honestly. Body: (1) Islam puts great emphasis on the dignity of labour; we come across many jobs where people work as helpers in houses, electricians, plumbers, sewerage workers, gardeners and road cleaners, all contributing to the welfare of society and no less honourable than doctors, teachers or engineers. (2) Treating them with utmost respect is everyone's duty, yet some people treat labourers harshly and inhumanely, and some do not pay their wages just in time. (3) Everyone should understand that all professions are equally respectable and should be regarded in high esteem; if these people stop doing their jobs, life will become a living hell. (4) Remedies: labourers should be dealt with dignity and treated equally; discrimination against labourers should be discouraged by spreading awareness; campaigns should convey that labourers should be equally respected; strict punishment and legal action should be taken against those who insult or harass them or do not pay them timely. Conclusion: The dignity of labour should not be compromised by any means because it is a sin against humanity; labourers should be given due respect, and we ought to pay respect to all and sundry, no matter what one does for one's living.

Essay Outline — Uses of Science

Write an outline of the essay "Uses of Science".

Thesis: Gone are the days when people believed that the planet Earth is stationary and flat and the Sun revolves around it; then science came and rejected all these theories, and people started to discover new things, new continents, new routes and new worlds. Body: (1) Life before science was very dull and dark, without electricity, gas, telephone, internet, vehicles or television, and people lived in fear and without adventure. (2) Scientists brought revolutions through wonderful discoveries in every walk of life; new theories were tested and turned into laws, and inventions kept getting better with time. (3) The first computer occupied a lot of space and was operated by many people with limited functions; with time computers became smaller and smaller, and now laptops can be carried anywhere easily with all the functions a person can ask for. (4) People are no longer afraid of superstitions like black cats, broken mirrors, spilled milk, the sound of scissors and the number thirteen, because science has proved that all superstitions are baseless and have no sound reasoning or logic behind them. Conclusion: In short, science is the greatest collective endeavour; it ensures a longer and healthier life, monitors our health, provides medicines to cure diseases, alleviates our aches and pains, helps us provide clean water for our basic needs including food, and invigorates us by sports, music, entertainment and the latest communication technology; last but not least, science nourishes our spirit.

Essay Outline — Patriotism

Write an outline of the essay "Patriotism".

Thesis: Patriotism is the feeling of love and devotion to one's country, an inborn and pure feeling which surpasses all things in one's life; a true patriot knows the actual worth of his country and understands the sacrifices one ought to make for it. Body: (1) Everyone ought to be a patriot because the country takes care of him like his own mother, nurtures him at every stage, and provides a home, food and air to breathe in. (2) Pakistan is our dear country, and a true patriot should know how it came into being and what hardships the leaders bore; Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah worked day and night for independence from the British, while the Hindus were the British favourites and Muslims were at a disadvantage, yet he remained firm and worked hard. (3) A separate homeland was attained at the cost of severe atrocities during migration; thousands were brutally murdered but refrained from yielding. (4) Soon after independence, the due financial share of Pakistan was not handed over, unfair adjustments were made so Pakistan could fail, and a war was imposed to destroy Pakistan once and for all, but true patriots offered their lives and saved the country many times. Conclusion: Loyalty and love are the two characteristics every patriot should possess; a person not fighting for the cause of the country cannot be called a patriot, and loving one's nation is integral to one's personality; at the time of distress, we should be ready to stand by our homeland, to work for it, and even to sacrifice our lives for it, if the need be.

Essay Outline — Beggary

Write an outline of the essay "Beggary".

Thesis: Begging is the act of asking favour, including money, clothes and food, for free with no intent of reciprocation; it is as old as human history, and people with no option for survival have often been seen supporting themselves through it, mostly starting when a person is in desperate need. Body: (1) Causes: various financial, social and biological factors, the most important being poverty, unemployment, and the conception of beggary as a lucrative source of income; in developed countries economies are stable and inflation is low, so very few beg, while in under-developed countries low wages, ever-increasing inflation and lack of jobs make lives extremely difficult. (2) Types: some beggars are in desperate need with no alternative; some just beg for the sake of it as their profession; needy people often give up begging when helped, but some beggars function under beggar mafias which recruit people, govern rings, and control the beggars, who are found involved in supply of drugs, loot, plunder, murder and other crimes. (3) Professional beggars know the art of winning sympathy, use emotional and religious blackmail, deceive people by portraying themselves as helpless, and the drowsy, sleepy infants in the laps of their so-called mothers are often found drugged; Islam is strictly against professional beggary and prohibits giving alms to such people. Conclusion: Beggary is loathsome whether done by profession or out of dire need; awareness should be spread against it, and it needs to be ended by the people and government through strict laws and proper planning; being poor is not a crime, but fulfilling one's needs through illegal means instead of hard work is a huge crime, and elimination of this single blight will nip many evils in the bud.

Essay Outline — Why I Love My Country

Write an outline of the essay "Why I Love My Country".

Thesis: Love for one's country is an inborn phenomenon, a natural and pure feeling which surpasses all things in one's life; Pakistan is my country, emancipated from the shackles of the British on 14th August 1947, rich in culture and tradition, with diversity of race, languages, food and places. Body: (1) I love my country because it is my motherland; I was born and brought up here, and she takes care of me like my own mother, nurturing me at every stage and providing a home, food and air to breathe in. (2) It is the land of lofty mountains: the Hindu Kush, Himalayas and Karakoram ranges with majestic, sublime and boundless beauty; Pakistan is home to the world's second-highest peak K2, occasionally known as the King of Mountains and the Mountaineers Mountain, a source of great pride. (3) It is blessed with fascinating lakes like Saif-ul-Malook, Satpara, Ansoo and Attabad Lake; the Arabian Sea touches its southern part, and rivers like the Ravi, Satluj, Chenab, Jhelum, Indus and Kabul irrigate its fertile and rich agricultural lands. (4) Technological advancements have reached new heights: Pakistan is one of the few powerful countries with atomic technology attained in the 1980s, advanced tactical warfare machinery including long-range ballistic missiles, next-generation fighter aircraft and loaded warships, and new technological fields and hubs. Conclusion: In the end, Pakistan is blessed with all the treasures and is by no means inferior to any other country; on account of these reasons, among too many to mention, I love my motherland from the bottom of my heart.

Essay Outline — My Aim in Life

Write an outline of the essay "My Aim in Life".

Thesis: An aimless life is directionless; aims and goals are very important for a person's life, and without a serious goal, life is useless and makes people dull; to develop personal utility, it is crucial to have a clear aim in mind, and striving hard for an aim makes a person capable and productive. Body: (1) Different people dream differently: some wish to be doctors or engineers, some to be architects, teachers or developers; my aim in life is to be a soldier in the army, because there I can directly serve my nation, and the mission of our army is to defend the nation from known and unknown factors. (2) Countless heroes are present in our army and are role models: Naik Saif Ali Janjua, Captain Muhammad Sarwar, Major Tufail Muhammad, Major Raja Aziz Bhatti, Pilot Officer Rashid Minhas, Major Shabbir Sharif, Sowar Muhammad Hussain, Major Muhammad Akram, Lance Naik Muhammad Mahfuz, Havildar Lalak Jan and Captain Karnal Sher Khan are an epitome of pride and inspiration, besides thousands of unheard heroes still working to protect our country. (3) There is a hard procedure for selection: multiple trials including a preliminary knowledge test, an initial medical test, a physical test and an interview, followed by psychological and performance tests to test aptitude. (4) The writer knows his strengths and weaknesses and has been working day and night to overcome shortcomings, and will apply after the intermediate examination to secure a place in the army and become a proud defender of the country. Conclusion: One must dream big, sky is the limit; the choices we make can bring differences in our lives and in the lives of those for whom we want to make a difference; it requires courage, strong will power, determination, consistent efforts, patience, persistence and perseverance to fulfil one's dream, and challenges, problems and setbacks are bound to come, but once we have taken a decision, we need to keep striving till the end.

Essay Outline — A Journey by Train

Write an outline of the essay "A Journey by Train".

Thesis: Travelling and nature are the great masters as they teach us through experiences; travelling is one of the exciting ways to experience and observe nature, and trains are a fascinating means of transportation whose greatest benefit is that we make many observations. Body: (1) The writer had travelled on an airplane and a ship, but his most desired wish was to travel by train; one day he had to go to Rawalpindi for a test and chose the train after a moment's hesitation, pre-booking an A.C. sleeper ticket a week before. (2) He reached the station at 7 o'clock, but the train was delayed due to technical issues and finally arrived at 9:30 a.m. with a roaring sound; the conductor guided him politely to a neat, clean, air-conditioned cabin with berths, shared with only one other man. (3) From the window he saw trees, crop fields, working farmers and the scenery of nature quickly sliding past, stopping at every station, until the train at last reached his destination. Conclusion: Many great writers and philosophers have written inspirational quotes related to trains; the train travel symbolises the ups and downs of life, and just like the invention of the train has brought a great transformation to world transportation, it can bring a noticeable transformation to the minds of travellers who love nature by observing their surroundings.

Essay Outline — A Visit to a Hill Station

Write an outline of the essay "A Visit to a Hill Station".

Thesis: Visiting a hill station in the summer can be full of fun and excitement; it is the best way to get rid of the scorching heat of the city, and its pleasant weather and temperature are helpful in maintaining health. Body: (1) After papers were over, the writer needed a break from the day-to-day grind; on a friend's suggestion, he and his friends planned a weekend trip to Nathia Gali, departing at 7 a.m. on Saturday morning and reaching after a six-hour drive, staying in a hotel room booked through an online application. (2) After resting, they asked locals about tourist spots and were told of a waterfall and a lake nearby, not to be missed; they rented a jeep to the lake, thirty minutes away, and were amazed by pure, clean water coming straight from the mountains, ate fish from there, and sat for an hour enjoying the view. (3) The next day after breakfast they rented a jeep again to see the waterfall; the road was very uneven and dangerous, but the driver was expert and knew the route well; the waterfall was 140 meters high and its sound was like an orchestra's; they took pictures, had tea and ate pakoras from a local stall. Conclusion: It was time for the journey back by bus; the nightlife, the music and the far-stretching hills were alluring them to revisit the place, the zigzag roads gave an opportunity to view nature from different angles, and they would all love to come here again to find out the unexplored spots.

Essay Outline — Hostel Life

Write an outline of the essay "Hostel Life".

Thesis: Living a hostel life for learning how to study and prepare for classes, to experience different cultures and languages across the country, provides an incredible foundation for students to excel in life, encouraging them to explore and learn, make friends, take responsibility and experience a new sense of independence. Body: (1) The writer travelled from Lahore to Islamabad with his entire luggage to live in a hostel, both excited and sad to leave his family and begin a new chapter; the bus took around 5 hours to the Rawalpindi Terminal, then a taxi to the hostel, surprisingly quite far from the university. (2) The head warden greeted him and shifted him to his allotted room; he was the first to arrive, so setting up his luggage in the cupboards was easy; roommates arrived the next morning, which was orientation day. (3) After the first day at the university, he explored the hostel facilities: the mess hall, gym and a small area designated for Namaz; at first his interaction was limited to roommates, but with each passing day he made new friends, mostly from the computer department while he was from bio sciences, though all shared a common place for daily activities. (4) They were from different cities and shared stories of their experiences; he made lots of good friends, some becoming friends for life. Conclusion: It has been a life-changing experience; he is indebted to the faculty who worked tirelessly to help him and to the opportunities that shaped him; he can proudly say that the time spent at the hostel was the best time of his life and will be a part of him forever.

Essay Outline — A Visit to a Fair

Write an outline of the essay "A Visit to a Fair".

Thesis: A fair is an annual family-friendly event held in a city or mostly in a countryside; friends from near and far venture on an adventure to spend memorable moments together, entertaining themselves with concerts, great food, animals and adventures, and fairs have a rich history in the Punjab. Body: (1) During the last summer vacation, the writer visited his grandmother's house in Sahiwal with all cousins present; after two days, his uncle announced a fair in the suburb of Sahiwal and took them there the next evening. (2) They reached in time to spend a few hours; a big marquee was divided into portions with different activities; clowns showed spectacular tricks surrounded by kids and laughter. (3) A haunted house, scary with statues, mannequins and skeletons, not allowing kids under five; then animals like horses and goats performing acts, and an aerial performance by acrobats, one girl walking on a rope and a man cycling on a single wheel, which was really scary. (4) Food stalls with traditional food like Qallama, Kulfi and Rabbri; then the well of death, a big well with a car moving in circular motion at around 100 km/hour, giving goosebumps and dizzy heads. Conclusion: The time passed quickly, but that visit to the village fair bestowed a flood of nostalgic memories; it was indeed a memorable trip, and the writer wishes he could visit it again.

Essay Outline — A Visit to a Historical Place

Write an outline of the essay "A Visit to a Historical Place".

Thesis: Historical places are very important assets of a country with great significance not only in culture but also in history; historical monuments are the proof of our past and tell us about our lineage and ancestors, and they cannot be separated from a culture because discarding them is like disposing of one's identity. Body: (1) The writer always cherished visiting the Badshahi Masjid, which had been considered the world's largest masjid for almost three centuries, and wanted to see whether all he had heard was true or just exaggeration. (2) He planned a trip with friends on Friday to offer Namaz-e-Jummah there; departing at seven o'clock, they went to the Badshahi Masjid located near the Lahore Fort, now a fine tourist hub with people of different communities gathered there. (3) An elderly person told them the Masjid was constructed between 1671 and 1673 in the reign of Aurangzeb, the famous Mughal Emperor; it was quite spacious, a whole new world inside, with eight minarets and three domes, corridors and lawns, built from red stone with a Persian and Turkish look. (4) It was a trend to build buildings by hiring famous architects from the Persian origin; a spacious room was turned into a museum with old transcripts of the Holy Quran and other Islamic manuscripts; they visited every inch of this Islamic gallery and offered Namaz-e-Jummah there. Conclusion: It was a memorable trip that the writer could never forget.

Essay Outline — My Hobby

Write an outline of the essay "My Hobby".

Thesis: Someone has rightly said that a mind with no thoughts is the mind of a demon; an empty mind having no creativity and lacking passion for learning is completely useless in today's world, so nothing can be better than having a hobby to keep free minds occupied and away from worldly worries. Body: (1) People have different hobbies according to their tastes: some like to collect antiques, others like gardening; today's children are more interested in technology, spending free time making videos, watching plays, playing video games and communicating online. (2) For the writer, reading books is what he does in spare time; since childhood he developed a taste for story books, and on his fifth birthday his father gifted him "100 Great Muslim Leaders", which inspired him so greatly that he started purchasing books with his pocket money. (3) The more he grew up, the more he visited different libraries; going to libraries was fruitful and enlightening, and he was amazed that there are so many books on different subjects he had not read, so his passion for books turned into a hobby. (4) Benefits: the more he reads, the more he learns about the world; reading imparts knowledge, guides through different walks of life, gives a feeling of achievement and satisfaction, enhances confidence, fosters appetite for learning, ignites spirit and invigorates in times of despair. Conclusion: This never-ending process of book reading continues and keeps making him read more and more books; this hobby does not let his spark and excitement down in a world full of stress, and book reading is a perfect stress-buster; a person should find a hobby which is interesting and constructive at the same time; his hobby of reading books keeps him indulged and knowledgeable, serving him like an all-weather friend that always stands by his side through thick and thin and never leaves him in the lurch.

Essay Outline — Women Empowerment

Write an outline of the essay "Women Empowerment".

Thesis: The empowerment of women and the improvement of their political, social, economic and health status play an integral part in the development of a country, and it is very important for the achievement of sustainable development; the endeavours of both women and men are highly required for the development of a country. Body: (1) In earlier centuries, women were treated as useless creatures and suffered domestic violence, sexual harassment and physical torture; they could not go out and work like men, and though the scenario has changed gradually, a lot is still left to be desired. (2) In all parts of the world, women are facing threats to their lives, health and well-being as a result of being overburdened with work and their lack of power and influence; in most regions they receive less formal education than men, and their knowledge, abilities and coping mechanisms often go unrecognized. (3) Women empowerment has five components: women's sense of self-worth; their right to have and determine choices; their right to have access to choices; their right to have access to opportunities and resources; and their right to have power to control their own lives, both within and outside the home, and their ability to influence the direction of social change to create a more just social and economic order, nationally and internationally. (4) To bring women into the mainstream of life, proper education is a must; the social right of a human being has to be ensured strictly for women; to implement all the rights of women, laws should be enforced; many working women face problems at workplaces because of gender discrimination and sexual harassment, and authorities should take necessary steps to make their workplaces secure. Conclusion: A nation can't reach its desired goal of development without the help of women; they make more than half of the total population, and if they remain ignorant and unemployed, they can't take part in the development of a country and ultimately become a burden; an empowered woman can stand for her rights with bold decisions, is an asset to a country, and can become a force that gives direction to a society and takes part in economic and political development; if equal rights are ensured to women, they can add new dimensions to the growth of a society.

Essay Outline — Smog

Write an outline of the essay "Smog".

Thesis: Smog is a type of air pollution which is a mixture of smoke and fog; scientifically, it is a mixture of different pollutants, including oxides of nitrogen (NOx), oxides of sulphur (SOx), carbon monoxide (CO), particulate matter (PM), volatile organic compounds (VOC) and ozone, and the main pollutant responsible for smog build-up is NOx. Body: (1) It describes the atmospheric condition of a particular area; in its worst form it blocks out the winter sunshine, causes closure of motorways after dusk, prevents flights from landing at international airports at night, and residents face a dense blanket of smog that reduces visibility and causes several respiratory and mental ailments. (2) Historically, the most lethal smog was the London Great Smog in 1952, in which more than 12,000 people died from traffic accidents or respiratory ailments; in 2012, Beijing faced deadly smog with a large number of casualties. (3) Over a couple of years, Pakistan and India have been badly hit by smog; in winter, delayed rainfall and cold, continuously dry conditions retain all pollutants in the lower atmosphere, causing smog to spread in both countries. (4) In Pakistan, particularly in Lahore, the problem has grown worse over the last five years, caused by vehicle and industry smoke, combustion of coal-based power plants, and agriculture waste burning; smog enters Lahore through the bordering Indian Punjab and Jalandhar, mainly due to setting paddy fields on fire, with leftover straws burning as many as thirty-two million tons, and Lahore has been reported as the most polluted city of Asia. Conclusion: Air pollution needs to be redressed on an immediate basis; there is a need for an action plan, and the following measures can prove helpful: the government should keep monitoring the air quality index on a regular basis; specific mitigation measures should be adopted by the government and policy makers to control the growing air pollution; planting more trees can mitigate the hex of these chemical gases; and citizens should avoid using products that release high levels of oxides of sulphur and carbon monoxide.
